VOL. 76. NO. 173.

COUNTRY RETURNS DOWN LEADS AMENDMENTS; SIX NOW TRAILING

Initiative, Judiciary, Political Nominations, Equalization Board and Property Classification.

FIGURES FROM 2215 OF 3958 PRECINCTS

Final Days Expected to Elapse Before Results Become Definitely Known—Bonus Adoption Virtually Assured.

Early but surely the protest of the old established order is cutting further into the leads of the proposed constitutional amendments which on face of the first returns had a lead. No. 15 has the lead from the first, but now has a company of five others, under the figures from 2215 of the 3958 precincts of the State. No. 15, which would abolish the State Board of Equalization, is the latest to fall behind.

Twenty counties outside of St. Louis had sent returns up to midnight, some of them complete, with only scattering precincts from others. The trend indicated that the amendments which are being heavily scratched would continue to suffer inroads under the precinct returns. Although the election was held Tuesday, several more days will elapse before the result becomes a certainty.

Large Majority Required.
Only a majority in regard for adoption of the amendments, but has become almost certain that No. 15 will not survive that requirement, showing a negative majority of 16,573, out of the approximately 100,000 votes cast upon the amendments.

The others which are behind, and the majorities against them are as follows:
No. 2, the initiative and referendum amendment, 13,321.
No. 7, to reform the judiciary system, 22,121.
No. 10, to permit political nominations by conventions, 15,916.
No. 13, to permit classification of property for taxation, 22,657.
No. 14, to abolish the State Board of Equalization, 6413.

The largest vote cast on any single proposition appears to have been given to No. 4, the bonus amendment, which from the precincts enumerated, received an affirmative majority of 65,303, the largest given to any of the 16 amendments are about upon the 100,000 mark.

Others in the Lead.
Others which still maintain a comfortable lead are No. 11, of particular interest to St. Louis because it would enable complete local self-government, limited police force and expansion of cities; No. 3, permitting opening of ballot boxes in election fraud cases; No. 8, relating to impeachments; No. 12, relating to taxation; No. 19, striking at nepotism; No. 18, Kansas City bond proposition; No. 20, applying to methods of amending the Constitution; and No. 21, the schedule for carrying into effect those of the amendments which are adopted.

No. 1, which would simplify amendments, also appears to be fairly safe, having a majority of 17,344.

Early returns included those from St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Springfield and Sedalia. Kansas City gave all of the proposals a lead, St. Louis did likewise except for No. 15, which lost heavily. Springfield, St. Joseph and Sedalia gave nearly everything small margins, but their votes were so small that rural precincts of their counties ate away the benefit.

St. Joseph, however, supported No. 15 by Ku Klux Klanmen, who were for the proposition largely because Catholics in some localities have against it, saved a lead of 600 for that proposition.

St. Louis County, on the face of returns from 52 of the 111 precincts, gave substantial majorities for all of the 21.

Expansion Attitude.
Especially interesting in connection with the persistent assertions of county politicians that their constituents are opposed to annexation, the vote of 7665 yes and 3354 no, given by the county on No. 11, which would enable St. Louis to expand.

Check Room Boss Gets All of Hotel Girl's $1400 Tips

Statler Employee Sues Concessionaire for Six Month's Gratuities—He Asserts She Was Not Entitled to Them.

Curtains of secrecy surrounding the "tipping system" at Hotel Statler's checkrooms were drawn aside today in Circuit Court. Information of interest was disclosed to those who have been liberal in their tips under the erroneous impression that all they gave went to the check girl.

Most interesting of all, perhaps, was that John Neuberger stands behind the scenes and pockets the tips, and that the pretty girls who "Thank you, sir," are hired for $70-a-month salaries with no share in distribution of gratuities.

Of secondary interest is that one of seven check-girls at the Statler in six months, collected $1401.95 in tips, that being about $1900 profit to the concessionaire, Neuberger.

The latter not only collects the checking tips at the Statler here, but also in all Statler hotels in the country. He resides in Cleveland and pays Statler for the privilege of garnering the tips.

These facts and others were brought out at trial of the suit of Miss Cecil Padridge, 24, of 220 West Adams street, Kirkwood, to recover from Neuberger $1401.95 collected as tips from Sept. 27, 1921, to April 5, 1922. The case was not completed, as Circuit Judge Grimm, on motion by Miss Padridge's attorney, ordered a nonsuit. Variance between Miss Padridge's testimony and allegations in her petition caused the nonsuit which leaves her the privilege of filing an amended petition.

Miss Padridge testified she was hired by Miss Pearl Jones, chief check girl for Neuberger here, with a verbal understanding that she would receive $70 monthly salary and be allowed to retain tips. The tips of the seven girl checkers were taken daily, however, and deposited in Neuberger's bank account on promises that they later would be pooled and distributed among the girls, she asserted. She was discharged without getting her share of the pool, she added.

Miss Padridge testified that she was instructed by Miss Jones to tell tips, should they ask, that the tips went to the girls.

In a formal denial of the petition's charges, Neuberger maintained Miss Padridge was not entitled to the tips.

"The wages of the girls who wait on the public don't mean anything if the tips go to their employers," Judge Grimm observed.

They often growled at each other across that fence, which ran from the back wall of Spital's establishment at Manchester avenue and Talmage street to the alley. Short believed that men who came by way of Talmage street would be unable to see the rear entrance to his restaurant, because of Spital's fence, Spital being nearer the corner.

One night, recently, the fence was torn down, and again Short and Spital used the same back yard. Spital accused Short of destroying the fence and complained to their landlord, Ed Short, who was washing and dumping garbage in the common space, nor was he careful whose side of the yard he used.

The landlord gave Short notice to move, or at least Spital's wife and his daughter said so around the neighborhood.

Men Arm Themselves.
Some time ago the stove in Sam Spital's saloon and poolroom exploded. Police said that soot probably had ignited, but Spital was certain that his enemy had put a bomb in the stove.

Men, after that, carried revolvers in their hip pockets and were not cautious about letting it be known.

Last night it so chanced that Spital and Short met on the sidewalk in front of Spital's place. There were witnesses.

"What are you glaring at me for, you damned dog?" Short asked, walking close.

Others edged away from them. "I can look at you whenever I want to," Spital retorted. "That's what I have eyes for I guess."

Then Short punched Spital or Spital punched Short, as accounts differ, and both drew revolvers.

When the noise and spurts of flame were gone Spital lay around the corner, where he had staggered, and Short's friends were putting him into an automobile for a dash to city hospital.

Both Weapons Empty.
Each had emptied his weapon at the other. Spital had been shot twice, once in the left breast and once in the head. One bullet had hit Short, piercing under his left jaw and lodging in the back of his neck.

Joseph Laroek, 25, Spital's son-in-law, and Walter Short, brother of the wounded man, together with four other persons, were held as witnesses. Their stories differ only on the point as to who struck the first blow. All agreed the revolvers were drawn almost simultaneously.

At City Hospital today, Short said: "He threatened several times to kill me. I got out of my automobile in front of my place and saw him standing by his door, staring at me. I didn't know what he'd do, so I walked up to him and asked, 'What are you glaring at me for, you damned dog?' He struck me and I hit him back, putting my left hand out of business. He drew his revolver and shot me at close range. I staggered back, drawing my revolver, and when I steadied I let him have it. That's all I remember."

Short is 29 years old, married and has quarters in the basement of his store building, 4128 1/2 Manchester avenue. Spital was 46 years old and resided with his family at 4426 Vista avenue.

Watson, after surrendering himself at the Sheriff's office in East St. Louis, said Vincent made a threatening gesture. Vincent was carrying a revolver. Vincent said he did not threaten Watson, but, instead, suggested that the dispute as to the police property be taken to court for settlement.

Sam Spital sold beverages and plate lunches in his saloon and hated his next door neighbor, Charles Short, who dealt in food also, but called his place a restaurant. For his part, Short returned Sam Spital's hatred with interest, feeling that he had been bested in rivalry for the back door trade of the neighborhood because of the fence Spital had set up.

They often growled at each other across that fence, which ran from the back wall of Spital's establishment at Manchester avenue and Talmage street to the alley. ONE OF CHERRY SISTERS RUNS FOR MAYORALTY OF CEDAR RAPIDS, IA.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Feb. 28.—MISS ETTIE CHERRY, one of the famous Cherry sisters of 25 years ago, has become a candidate for the mayoralty of Cedar Rapids, and if she is elected she is going to make this "a 9 o'clock town."

One plank in her platform is curfew every night night at 9. Cedar Rapids has a population of 45,000.

The Cherry sisters appeared in every important city in America when they went on the vaudeville stage. They made their debut at Proctor's, New York, and were received by a shower of vegetables.

Though similar receptions were accorded them in every large city in America, they continued to "act" and accumulated a fortune which they lost through bad investments. Ettie now runs a bakery here.

British Recluse Left Estate That Included Most Valuable Shares in World.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The surprise millionaire, Joseph Trueman Mills, who lived and died unknown and left, as his will showed yesterday, $17,160,000, ($17,160,000), is described as a miser by the newspapers, which rushed reporters to a country village where he had lived.

This is hardly true, but Mills did not spend more than £2000 or £3000 yearly, had no motor or telephone, took a Ford taxi to the station when he went to town and never tipped the driver. To London he always took only four pennies for bus fare.

His great wealth was due to his possession of many (the number is not announced) of the 72 shares outstanding in the New River Co., the most valuable shares in the world. The last one sold in the market, in 1897, brought £125,000.

The company was formed in 1609 to dig a canal to supply London with water. King James I held 100 shares, whose par value was £100 each, and his successor, Charles I, exchanged them for an annuity of $500.

Seventy-two of the shares were bought out by the Government in 1844 for £1,504,000.

PARIS ORGAN DAMAGED BY "BIG BERTHA" RESTORED

Special Service at Church of St. Gervais Marks Return to Use of "Victim" of German Gun.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
PARIS, Feb. 28.—The organ of the Church of St. Gervais, Paris, which was damaged during a service on Good Friday, 1918, by a shell fired from the German gun known as "Big Bertha," which at the same time killed a large number of the congregation, has now been restored, and its return to use was celebrated by a special ceremony yesterday.

The organ was placed in the church during the reign of Francis I, and a succession of fine organs had played on it, including Le Roy, Robert de Dussion, and, finally, the Couperin "dynasty," members of that family having occupied the post successfully from 1655 to 1826. A label to the memory of the Couperin family has now been placed near the door which gives access to the organ.

Cardinal Dubois, Archbishop of Paris, conducted yesterday's ceremony. Mr. Bouché, the organist, who was playing when the shell struck the church in 1918, and M. Bonnet, the organist of St. Eustache, who has been helping him to supervise the work of restoration, both took part in the program of music, which included works by Louis and Francois Couperin, Clerambault, Calviere, and Bach. The choir sang choruses from Handel's Messiah.

TIME FOR STATE INCOME TAX RETURNS EXTENDED TO MARCH 15

40,000 Individuals Have Made Returns, Against 70,000 Up to This Date a Year Ago.

Final returns for Missouri State income tax returns have been extended until March 15 by Assessor Budder. The returns, providing a tax of 1 per cent on all incomes, with exemptions of $1000 for single persons and $2000 for married persons, must be filed at the city hall by midnight of March 15, or be subject to penalties provided in the law. The tax is payable May 1.

So far 40,000 individuals have filed returns against a total of 70,000 last year. The tardiness in filing returns is attributed to Assessor Budder to the talk of reduced Federal taxes. Taxpayers are holding off, planning to file both returns at the same time, he believes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Carl Schuyler, Denver attorney, today took the stand in the Senate's oil investigation to explain the million-dollar contract which J. Lee Stack, publisher of the Denver Post, obtained from Harry F. Sinclair for publishing editorials for "Teapot Dome."

In a lengthy prepared statement Schuyler strongly defended the contract, under which Sinclair agreed to pay Stack and Bonfils $1,000,000, and regulated all reports of the House to join them in the movement.

The bill provides that any beverage obtained by the alcoholic fermentation of an infusion or decoction of barley malt, cereals and hops in drinkable water, or by the natural fermentation of apple or other fruit, vegetable or herb juices containing not more than 2.5 per cent of alcohol by volume may be manufactured, sold or transported for sale in original packages for consumption in homes and places other than the place of sale.

The bill, according to its proponents, proposes to modify the Volstead law by the substitution of a "percentage which has been declared legal by Mr. Volstead himself."

Palmer to Be Asked About His Activity for McLean

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Secret messages that might have been lifted out of a detective thriller—messages telling of the activities of "peaches" and "apples" and "the duck," of a certain "Eyes" who suspected something of a telephone conversation on which a third person "listened in"—were read into the record of the Senate oil investigation at today's hearing. The chapter had the flavor not only of a detective novel, but of "Alice in Wonderland."

Given the serious Senator Walsh, the "prosecutor" of the oil investigation committee, smiled as he read aloud the quaint conceits under which the confidential representatives of E. B. McLean, the Washington newspaper publisher, masked the identity of the persons who figured in the message sent to McLean at Palm Beach. Some of the messages were completely in code, and the committee did not try to decipher them today.

The telegrams revealed that some plays of McLean kept him fully posted on developments before the oil committee. Running through many of the telegrams was an anxious desire on his part to escape an appearance before the committee. There were numerous evidences of influence unsuccessfully exerted to this end.

Denial as to Underwood.
On the opening of the morning hearing Senator Walsh dealt with published report that Senator Underwood had sought to persuade him to spare the publisher the ordeal of testifying. Walsh said that Underwood had never endeavored to influence his conduct of the investigation in any wise. One message in the Senate chamber, Walsh said, Underwood asked him whether he had any objection to inserting in the Record the letter of A. Mitchell Palmer, which conveyed the publisher's story that he had lent former Secretary Fall $100,000 with which to improve his ranch. Walsh said that Underwood, in talking to him this morning, recalled another conversation, of which he (Walsh) had no recollection.

"Senator Underwood told me," Walsh said, "that at the request of Mr. Bennett (Ira Bennett, one of the editors of the Washington Post) he asked me whether McLean would be called to testify, and that I replied that I had agreed to go to Palm Beach to take his testimony."

The question arose in the committee whether Palmer should be called to the stand. Walsh said that he could see nothing to be gained by this, but Senators Dill and Lenroot expressed the opinion that Palmer, who had signified his willingness to "take the stand," should be asked to do so. The committee thereupon decided to call Palmer.

Stacks of Telegrams.
Then began the reading of a stack of telegrams that passed between McLean and various agents in Washington. In one, it was reported that Walsh had taken a "determined attitude" in favor of getting McLean on the stand, and that he might be "disagreeable" if McLean showed himself reluctant to testify.

Again, McLean was informed that "Willis" has seen a certain Continued on Page 3, Column 5.

McAdoo's Firm Got $150,000 Tax Fee

Presented Complicated Case for Republic Steel, Candidate Says.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 28.— William G. McAdoo was partly corroborated what he termed
"the Youngtown story" in a statement in which he said his former legal firm in New York had represented the Republic Iron and Steel Co. before the Treasury Department at Washington for a total fee of $150,000. In a statement issued last night, McAdoo said:

"Concerning the Youngtown story, I have no hesitation in saying that my former law firm in New York was employed as counsel for the Republic Iron and Steel Co., an independent concern, in a complicated tax matter at Washington. This case was heard in the regular legal way before the Board of Appeals and Review of the Treasury Department, a semi-judicial body, composed of civil service men.

"Whether it came before Commissioners of Internal Revenue
Williams on an appeal I do not recall.
My facts were filed and the case argued several times. It involved very serious and important legal questions concerning invested capital and was of interest to taxpayers throughout the United States. The amount involved was large. The postponement began in November, 1919, at which time the retainer of $100,000 was paid and the case was closed in the court of Feb. 1921, whereupon an additional fee of $140,000 was paid the firm—the compensation being commensurate with the importance of the matter and the service performed.

"The practice of law in New York involves a very expensive organization, high rentals, etc., and the fees are, of course, high. There was not a personal fee, but a fee to the firm, and I received, of course, only my proportion of it.
"There appears to be a conceit tried effort by my political enemies to divert attention from the scandals in administration circles at Washington by trying to attack my law practice. I have no apologies to make for it. Former Associates Justice of the Supreme Court, Charles E. Hughes and other public officials, on retiring from office, resumed the practice of law. Just as I did, and no one criticized them.

and with consent of her own voters and those of the country.

Impending defeat of No. 7 and No. 13 indicates the thoroughgoing success of the railroad and other interests in their work in the recent campaign preceding the election Tuesday. For rural Missouri in county after county slashed the support of the amendments, among others, which the railroads, and in some cases the State, had been working to secure.

Despite the negative influence of interior Missouri effort to modernize the State's fundamental laws, votes in most of the counties indicated disapproval on the part of the voters.

Those amendments which are adopted, if any, will go into effect March 27, unless they require action by the Legislature, in which event they will become effective 90 days after adjournment of the Legislature, which will convene next January.

MAX W. SCHROEDER DIES

Had Been in Germany for Last Two Years.

Max W. Schroeder, 47 years old, secretary-treasurer of the Meyer Supply Co., died yesterday in Hantover, Germany, according to word received here by business associates. Schroeder, who was a native of Germany, had been there for the last two years for his health. He was suffering from a complication of diseases. He had no relatives here. Burial will be in Germany.

Recognized by "Kodak Man."

The deposition of Eugene R. Avery, who ran a photograph supplies store in 1911 at 161 Madison avenue, next door to the Clarence building in Memphis, was read into the record. His testimony was originally taken more than a year ago in connection with proceedings begun by Mrs. Harris before Magistrate Spiesberg to enforce payment of $1000 a month promised by Harris in a separation agreement.

Avery testified that he had occupied the lower half of 161 Madison avenue, and that the upper floors had been occupied by Eli Raynor and Ella or Elaine Lee. He already had been testified to by a previous witness that Mrs. Harris had abandoned the name Susie for that of Elaine.

Asked if he had seen Mrs. Harris in New York, Avery replied that he had seen her in her room in the Hotel Biltmore.

William J. Hayes, who was Chief of Police in Memphis from 1912 to 1916, and a member of the police force there from 1894 until October, 1917, testified at the time of the proceedings before Magistrate Spiesberg that he also had seen Mrs. Harris at the Biltmore and recognized her as the Ella Lee who had been with Eli Raynor in Memphis in 1911.

PRECAUTIONS BY STATE IN AUTO
THEFT RING CASE

One Man Under Indictment Has Been Under Bond
Since Jan. 7, Unknown to the Police.

Following the disclosure today that Sam Mandell, one of the men in the "Madison" connection with wholesale theft of St. Louis automobiles, for whom the police have been looking since last July, it was learned the State is taking unusual precautions to guard its witnesses.

No. 15. Supplement present ex-officio State Board of Education with elective board, and authorize establishment of Americanization schools and kindergartens.

66,586 yes; 122,933 no.

The trial of Mandell and the Kehoe brothers, John and Tom, former convicts and gangsters, is set for tomorrow in Circuit Judge Hamilton's court.

It will be remembered that Wesley R. Smith, a salesman for the automobile thieves, was arrested in St. Louis County July 15 last, as he was en route to police headquarters to tell what he knew about the operations of the theft ring, and that Secretary of State Becker, who initiated the investigation of the activities of the thieves, was threatened with death. The threats against Becker came from a down-State county and caused the Secretary of State to arm himself.

The police were surprised when they found out today that Mandell had surrendered, and when they sought an explanation at the Circuit Attorney's office as to why they had not been informed of the development, they were told that the State had other surprises to spring at the trial of the thieves, and that it was not disclosing its hand at this time, even to the police.

Roundup of Stolen Autos.

For 100 automobiles, mostly Ford models in St. Louis, had been rounded up in Booneville and other Missouri towns, where they had been sold to farmers and others. It was discovered that in some cases counterfeit automobile license plates had been used and that in each instance the factory numbers on the cars had been altered.

Secretary of State Becker then became interested in the case on account of the use of the plates and he and his deputies picked up a trail that led to St. Louis. Detectives were sent to Booneville, arriving there a few hours after the cars had been seized, and they were told by the selling agent for the thieves, had departed in an automobile, saying that he was going to "make a breast of the whole thing" to the St. Louis police.

That night Smith was riddled with bullets as his automobile was nearing Kehr's Mill road, a half mile west of Clarkson road. It was clear to the police that he was killed to keep him from revealing the arrest of several St. Louis crooks followed, but as there were no eyewitnesses to the murder, no evidence was obtained on which indictments could be based.

However, detectives did learn that some of the automobiles had passed through the hands of Mandell, who at that time operated a public garage at 451 Delmar boulevard. Mandell left the city shortly before the trail reached his place of business, but through a chain of circumstantial evidence detectives connected the arrest of the St. Louis crooks with the cars that had been handled by Mandell. Later witnesses identified the brothers as having been at Booneville and other points in Central Missouri when some of the stolen cars were disposed of to unsuspecting buyers.

The Kehoes were arrested but before the police had obtained sufficient evidence to have the case against them, they were released. The prisoners obtained release on $10,000 bonds. When the evidence finally was prepared the grand jury, in addition to indicting the Kehoes, indicted Mandell and a Kahrville automobile dealer, who also had handled some of the stolen cars.

Mandell was indicted on the theory that although he might have been an innocent party to the transaction surrounding the wholesale auto thefts, he at least was an accessory because he was remaining away from the jurisdiction of the St. Louis courts.

Mandell's Surrender.

When Mandell on Jan. 7 walked into Judge Hamilton's court and furnished five $1000 bonds to cover five indictments against him, he sought an interview with the Circuit Attorney. He is said to have explained that he had been hiding through fear of the gang that had killed Smith and threatened the Secretary of State, and not because he was afraid to face the charges against him. He has been cloistered with Assistant Circuit Attorney Wilson several times since he surrendered, and is said to have made important statements regarding his connection with the theft of the stolen automobiles. Assistant Circuit Attorney Wilson, when asked if Mandell would be used as a State's witness in the trial of the Kehoes, declined to answer.

Would Abolish Labor Board.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Abolition of the Railroad Labor Board and substitution of compulsory arbitration for railway labor disputes was proposed in a bill today by Senator Howell (Rep., Nebraska). It will be introduced in the House by Representative Barkley (Dem., Kentucky).

Inside Story of Deal for a Million Revealed

Well, it is a big thing to get several of the big accomplishments which have made him such a prominent figure in the oil industry. I remember he seemed to enjoy participating in a transaction with the late John T. Milliken of St. Louis which involved many millions of dollars and the final outcome of which was completely in his favor. It was the value involved."

During the Kansas City conference Schuyler declared Sinclair finally said:

"Well, it is a big thing to get several of the big accomplishments which have made him such a prominent figure in the oil industry. I remember he seemed to enjoy participating in a transaction with the late John T. Milliken of St. Louis which involved many millions of dollars and the final outcome of which was completely in his favor. It was the value involved."

"I pointed out that such a program might result in the land near the oil wells from the field might drain the 320 acres, and that it was only reasonable for us to have some method of procedure agreed upon by the parties. I was satisfied with the progress of development in two years, I will buy his interest for $750,000."

"I replied that if he developed new claims to a point where Stack did not want to sell at $750,000, there would certainly be good profit for him. Sinclair stated in that case if Stack decided not to sell he ought to have a right to buy at $750,000, I'll take the right to buy at a million."

"During the latter part of March or perhaps early in April, 1922, Schuyler came to a point where he and I stated that he had been informed by the Pioneer Co. that they had sold their situation to Sinclair for $1,000,000; that the sale had been made by the Pioneer Co. and that he had been informed by Sinclair that if they did not take the $1,000,000 they would not get anything and that the Secretary of the Interior would call the Pioneer officials and cancel them; that the Pioneer officials had offered him (Stack) $500,000 in settlement of his rights; that he was disappointed in the amount offered; that he was disappointed because E. L. Doherty had told him that his contract with the Pioneer Co. was worth at least $1,000,000 upon the offer, well provision of the contract stated that the Pioneer Co. was to give him the value of his interest in the remainder of the Teapot structure."

Schuyler explained that Stack told him he had given Bonfilis half his interest in the Pioneer and Belgo companies because, as he explained, it was going to be a fight to a finish; that he was pitting himself against interests having millions, while he had nothing; that he proposed to fight, as he expressed it to me, "from the lowest to the highest courts in the land and back again; that to do so would require large sums of money for the employment of counsel, for investigation and other expenses incident to the maintenance of the litigation; that Bonfilis had the money for Walsh's unequivocal denial on the floor of the Senate, the bureau insists that the leases were made under an amendment to the general leasing act, passed on June 4, 1920.

This act was a rider to the naval appropriation bill, and the bureau argues that, regardless of this, it was bound to become in fact an amendment to the leasing act.

As to Senator Walsh's statement, borne out by Senators Smoot and Lenroot, that he did not support the act of June 4, 1920, the bureau's statement said that if Senator Walsh advanced serious argument that he is not to be counted as supporting the amendment because it passed without a roll call and dissenting voice, then must be conceded nobody supported it."

Some Persons Identified.

Persons mentioned in the telegrams sent by Major to McLean at Palm Beach and not identified to the committee, included "Homer," "Mr. Whaley," "George B. Fraser," "Lambert," "Wheatley," "Dunphy" and "John Brown" and "Glingland."

Explaining the letter to Senator Lenroot mentioned in his telegram to McLean, Palmer said it was the one he sent to Senator Walsh under date of Dec. 21, emphasizing McLean's telegram about his loan of $100,000 to Fall, and which was made public at the time.

"I prepared a letter to Senator Walsh," he added, "which McLean, through his secretary, asked me to show to Francis H. McAdoo, before it was delivered to the Senate committee. McLean's secretary explained to me that the reason for the request was that McAdoo had acted as his counsel in some other matters and he desired his judgment in reference to this."

McAdoo approved of the letter and I accordingly transmitted it to Senator Walsh."

Under the caption, "Who Is Lying," the Republican National Committee news bureau issued a statement, continuing its controversy with Senator Walsh as to the law under which the naval oil reserves were leased. Despite Senator

COURT ACTION IN OIL CASE 'VERY SOON'

Lenroot Tells Senate Special Council Has Been Working Night and Day.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Court action in the oil lease cases will be instituted "very, very soon," the Senate was informed today by Chairman Lenroot of the Oil Committee.

Lenroot again explained to the Senate the circumstances of his visit, with Senator Smoot (Rep., Utah), to the hotel apartment of Albert B. Fall in December. He said there was no secrecy about the visit, and added that two Democratic members of the committee, had been told all about it at the time.

Replies to Hefflin Attack.

The chairman was led to make his statement by an attack on him by Senator Hefflin (Dem., Alabama), who charged that "secret conferences" between Republican Senators and those under suspicion were impeding the oil inquiry.

Last November, Senator Lenroot said, immediately after witnesses from New Mexico had testified that Fall purchased a ranch for $31,000 he suggested that Fall be summoned. A telegram was sent and the reply said Fall's son-in-law would explain the purchase. Senator Lenroot said he insisted that Fall be called, and another summons was sent.

"The next thing I heard," the chairman continued, "was that Mr. Fall was ill in New York. Then he wired that he would stop at Atlantic City to regain his strength. The committee decided to have him appear on the following Wednesday and he was so advised."

Prior to the time set, the Wisconsin Senator said, Senator Smoot told him Fall was ill at a hotel here and suggested they go together to see him.

"We went to the hotel," he continued, "and found Senator Fall with a nurse in attendance. He undoubtedly was then ill. After making the usual inquiries regarding his health, we told him that the committee would have to have his testimony regarding the funds for the ranch."

Mr. Fall said he obtained the money in the ordinary course of business, from an old friend, but that he would not give his name.

Senator Smoot and myself insisted that he owed it to himself, to the committee and to the country to give all the facts. Mr. Fall then said the friend was out of town and he would have to get his permission. He offered to tell us in confidence, but I declined, saying I wanted him to tell the committee. About that time I thought he mentioned the name of Edward B. McLean as the man he had referred to.

Subsequently, as appears in the record, Secretary Fall sent a letter to the committee giving his explanation of the loan and naming McLean.

The interview occupied scarcely half an hour. The only purpose of it so far as I am concerned was to inform the committee and the country as to the source of that money.

Would Give Up Chairmanship.

"I would be very glad to be relieved of the chairmanship of this committee, and if the inquiry goes on I will have to be relieved, but I want to say now that I have performed my duty as a member and as chairman conscientiously, and with the sole purpose of getting at the facts."

Senator Lenroot said that court action in the oil cases might be expected very soon. He said he had conferred with one of the special Government counsel had night and added that the special counsel had been "working constantly, night and day, in preparing the pleadings."

Senator McKellar asked when criminal actions would be instituted, and the chairman replied he did not know.

Senator Smoot also made a statement regarding the visit to Fall's hotel.

"I never had anything in my heart or any other thought from the day the investigation was undertaken than to arrive at the absolute facts in the case," he said. "The visit to Albert Fall during his sickness in Washington had but one purpose. I think that I stated that purpose as briefly as possible in the newspapers of this morning and very candidly just as I stated it. I don't wait the statement in the Hearst newspapers to go as representing what I said. I leave it to Senators to say if that sounded like myself."

In the investigation Senator Smoot continued, there was one question unanswered—where Fall secured the $91,500 with which he bought the Harris ranch.

"Not a scintilla of evidence had been offered to the committee showing where he received that money," said Senator Smoot. "Albert Fall was a sick man at Wardman Park Inn, and he was in the room of Senator Fall and the Senator from Wisconsin has stated the case accurately to the Senate this afternoon. The only difference between him and myself is that he says Senator Fall, just before we were leaving, stated that it was Mr. McLean who advanced him that money. I don't say that he didn't say it. All I can say is that I didn't hear him say it."

Would Open Heart to World.

Referring to "insinuations" by Senator Hefflin, Senator Smoot continued: "I never saw Edward McLean but once, and that was at a dinner given by Mr. McAdoo of the British War Commission. I wouldn't know the man if I met him today."

"If it was possible that my whole heart was opened to the world, I'd be willing for it to be done. I've never done a thing in all my life that I'm not perfectly willing for every soul to know."

Senator Hefflin asked why Senator Walsh had not been taken to visit Mr. Fall.

"I never occurred to me," Senator Smoot replied. He closed by saying that neither he, nor any other committee member, had ever obstructed Senator Walsh's efforts, but, on the contrary, he had responded to every suggestion by Walsh.

HEAVY RIVER TONNAGE PASSES THROUGH CAIRO

Four Barges of Steel Products Towed to St. Louis—Other Shipments Go South.

CAIRO, Ill., Feb. 23.—A record for river tonnage through Cairo this year was set Monday, when two steel towns from Pittsburgh and a tow of aluminum ore from New Orleans arrived, together with several other vessels.

Further signs of the revival of river traffic were evidenced when steel products which she dropped at the Federal Barge Line terminal here. One barge will be unloaded at the local terminal, four were taken to St. Louis by the U. S. S. Memphis, and the U. S. S. Cairo will start for Memphis today with the other five.

The Carnegie Steel Co.'s towboat William G. Clyde brought in 10

barges which held 10,000 tons of steel pipe. One barge will be dropped at Memphis, another at Vicksburg, while the rest will be taken to New Orleans.

Two of the largest side-wheel packets on western rivers carried the mardi gras crowds. The Harry G. Drees, from St. Louis, had 250 round-trip passengers, while the Louisville & Cincinnati Packet Co. Cincinnati, built this winter for the had 400 aboard.

IMPORTANT WIRELESS EXPERIMENTS PLANNED

Marconi Company Seeking Commercial Advantage Over the Cable Lines.

By ARTHUR E. MANN,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Important wireless experiments which may have a far-reaching result are to be made by E. A. Payne, expert wireless operator from Senator Marconi's private yacht, and by Gaston Mathieu, Senator Marconi's chief technical adviser, who are sailing for New York aboard the Cedric from Liverpool March 1.

The importance Senator Marconi attaches to the work to be done on this trip can be judged from the fact that he has resolutely refused to give any inkling of the nature of the experiments and every effort has been made to keep the news of the experimenters' trip absolutely secret.

H. M. Short, general manager of the Marconi company in Canada, is accompanying the two technicians. The Cedric was chosen, it is understood, first because she is wireless equipment suitable for the experiments, and secondly because she is a slower boat than the large liners and there will be more time available wherein to work. Such experiments are usually conducted from Senator Marconi's yacht Electra, but she is now laid up for repairs.

Marconi Cancels Trip.

Senator Marconi had intended to accompany his experts, but the pressure of work here caused him to cancel the trip at the last moment. Payne and Mathieu are likely to sail for England again on the return trip of the Cedric to continue the experiments, and the results obtained on these two voyages probably will be followed up by Senator Marconi aboard his yacht in mid Atlantic early in the spring.

In view of the statement Senator Marconi made that he is still working on problems of directional wireless and the perfection of transatlantic wireless telephony, it is possible that the coming experiments aboard the Cedric are concerned with those two lines of research.

It is not impossible that tests will be made of the practicability of using liners en route between England and America to relay wireless telephone messages from one country to the other, and also to continue efforts to send directional wireless telegraph messages to British and American stations which, instead of radiating to all quarters of the compass, will be confined to a narrow lane of either between the ship and the shore station.

Securing Commercial Advantage.

It is on the perfecting of transatlantic wireless telephony that the Marconi company is depending to give it a distinct commercial advantage over the cable companies. The achievement of practicable directional wireless telephony would mean the dispatch of messages almost as immediate from being picked up by outsiders as cablegrams.

The importance of the latter achievement to wireless users may be judged from the fact that one of the greatest governments on this side of the Atlantic never uses wireless for transmission of any diplomatic messages, even in the secret code it possesses.

KAHN'S SON AND SAXAPHONE DENIED HEARING IN PUBLIC

Banker Directs Youngest Offspring to Confine Appearance With His Jazz Band to Toss.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Otto H.
Kahn, banker, has devoted years of his life and hundreds of thousands of dollars to the upbuilding of musical art in America. For many years he has been chairman of the Metropolitan Opera Company.
Kahn also is an honorary director of the Royal English Opera at London. He is head of the French Theater of New York and of the French-American Association for Musical Art, and is treasurer of the New Theater Co. His work for musical art has won him the decoration of a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

And yet what hath it all profited Kahn with his youngest son, Roger Wolff Kahn, who has fallen a victim to jazz mania. He has heard the vocal of the tenor saxophone and has capitulated.

Young Kahn has taken over direction of an orchestra playing in one of the city restaurants where a part of the cabaret program is performed by eight shapely young ladies in the scant attire which marks the mode of the day.

Kahn's debut as a saxophonist in public was scheduled for last night.
But his father arrived home from Palm Beach in time to prevent the musical contretemps for the Kahn family. The elder Kahn arrived at the cafe while the "show" was in full swing. The orchestra was blar-ning its loudest. A saxophone wall could be heard above all the rest.

But it was not the saxophone of the son of the Kahn family.
Young Kahn was sitting at a table beside the bass drums and was urging his comrades on to their best efforts. He announced that so long as his father objected to public performances, he would have to confine his musical talents to private teas and dinners, etc.

Young Kahn today became a member of Local 892, American Federation of Musicians. He paid his $50 initiation fee and $8 dues in advance after a union committee of five had decreed his efforts on the saxophone were of sufficient merit to permit his membership.

take precautions

With colds and influenza all too common just now, it pays to take regular preventive measures against them. Spray your nose and throat night and morning with Zonite (directions on the bottle). Prevention is always easier, better and less expensive than a cure.

Zonite—the remarkable, new antiseptic—has the unique power of destroying germs without harming the delicate tissues that germs thrive on.
It is several times as powerful as pure carbolic acid—yet non-irritating and absolutely non-poisonous. At your druggist.

Read what others say about Dietone

The Internal Antiseptic for stomach, liver and kidneys. . . .

Here are three letters taken at random from many. Read them! They tell a story that may mean new health and strength to you.

"For sixteen years my wife suffered intensely from stomach trouble. If I failed to try any doctor or remedy that was recommended to us, I do not recall it. When we heard of Dietone we followed our usual mode of procedure. We with not only a cured immediate relief but she is now entirely free of her trouble."
A. D. Wootter,
Arden, Okla.

"I find that Dietone has given me great relief from rheumatism, from which I have suffered for fifteen years, and feel that I am almost entirely free of it at this time. Dietone seems to take up the entire system,
I feel deeply grateful to Dietone."
Chas. Jones,
Duncan, Okla.

"I have suffered from chronic dyspepsia for 25 years, but failed to get anything but temporary relief from anything until I started taking Dietone. With the first bottle of Dietone I got relief. I am now eating most anything I desire and sleeping well every night. I am completely relieved of flatulency and belching. I freely recommend Dietone to any stomach sufferer."
Jack Hacker,
Alton, Ill.

Dietone saves lives

Thousands of sufferers have endured years of misery, and died, for lack of an internal antiseptic such as Dietone, which is now offered to the public.

Think of it! A powerful germi-cide—yet non-poisonous, non-alcoholic, non-irritating. In stomach, liver, and kidney disorders, Dietone quickly gives relief. Permanent results follow.

Occasional use of Dietone cleanses the stomach, prevents dyspepsia, rids the intestines of germs, soothes the kidneys, and promotes the general health. It is a liver tonic of great value; it relieves malaria and breaks chills quickly; it rids the blood of uric acid, and thus relieves rheumatism.

ARCHBISHOP ISSUES LENTEN PASTORAL

Suggests Generous Response to Appeal of Charities as a Worthy Deed.

Archbishop Glennon's annual Lenten pastoral has been issued and will be read in Catholic churches of the diocese Sunday. The Lenten season opens on Ash Wednesday, March 5.

The Archbishop recommends frequent reception of Holy Communion, and works of charities as especially fitting observance of the Lenten season. He says:

"There are the various corporal works of mercy which at this time make a special appeal to us and to which a generous response should be given. I would note especially the home of the aged on the North Side, conducted by the Little Sisters of the Poor, which because of remodeling and improvements on buildings, is now much in debt. It receives no support from the aged poor it cares for. It receives no support from the community at large, nor from any fund, public or quasi-public. Its support is only from the friends of the institution, to whom the Sisters appeal for support."

"There also are the various other Catholic charities and agencies which I am sure you will continue to support; and in order to do so I would invite your special attention and study to the various agencies listed in our Associated Catholic Charities."

"Christian marriage," continues the pastoral, "is not prohibited during the seasons of Lent or Advent, but the church prohibits during these seasons that worldly pomp and display which custom and tradition associate with the ceremony."

After outlining the periods for fasts and abstinence, the pastoral concludes: "While at all times we should live soberly, justly and piously, yet the season of Lent has special claims on devout Christians.
Its days are marked off by holy church for special prayer, for meditation on the sacred passion of Christ."

'ENGAGEMENT' OF WIDOW, 72, 'PRACTICAL JOKE,' SHE SAYS

Mrs. Marian E. Begg Explains She Confirmed Announcement as Birthday Fun.

Announcement of the "engagement" of Mrs. Marian E. Begg, 72-year-old widow of the Berthel Apartments, 605 Clara avenue, and George White, one of the proprietors of the Bonair Hotel, Taylor and Pershing avenues, was merely a "practical joke."

This was the statement yesterday of both parties following a publication of the announcement.
In explanation of the announcement, Mrs. Begg said, Tuesday was her birthday and a group of women friends gave a party at which the "announcement" was made.
She was presented with a purported engagement ring and received many congratulations. In the same vein, she "confirmed" the announcement.

Mrs. Begg recently returned from a world tour and has been widely entertained since. She formerly was proprietor of the Berthel Hotel, which was renamed the Bonair when anti-Berlin sentiment developed during the war. White was associated with Mrs. Begg in the hotel management.

BAZAR FOR BENEFIT OF LITTLE SISTERS OF POOR

Money to Be Applied to Debt of $200,000 for Addition to Building.

A carnival and bazar for the benefit of the $200,000 building fund campaign for the Little Sisters of the Poor will be held tomorrow, Saturday and Monday, at the Armory. The campaign is to relieve the indebtedness recently incurred when the North St. Louis institution of the Little Sisters was remodelled and enlarged at a cost of $200,000. The Sisters have no endowment or fixed income.

NEW DIPHTHERIA VACCINE

"T Plus A," Tried in Paris, Causes
Little Inconvenience.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—A vaccine against diphtheria, invented by Dr.
Jules Renault and Dr. Pierre Paul Levy, makes epidemics of that disease practically impossible, according to the account of their experiments, communicated to the Academy of Medicine.

The vaccine, which is called "T plus A," is injected subcutaneously, is hyperneutralized and causes little inconvenience. Three hundred children treated with it were found to be completely immunized after three injections. It is said.

Haley's Magnesia-Oil the scientific way to fight Acidosis and Constipation

If you are afflicted with sour stomach, have chronic indigestion; if your breath is bad and you suffer with heartburn—remember these are Nature's warnings that you must help her fight Acidosis.

Most of us eat too much and exercise too little. That means poor digestion—too much acid in the stomach. Acidosis, the name science gives to this condition, is the forerunner of 75% of all sickness. Don't let Acidosis get you in its grip.

Science Discovers New Way to Bring Relief

Physicians have long recommended milk of magnesia as the safe neutralizer of stomach acids. But milk of magnesia unaided was not enough to win the fight against Acidosis. Another co-agent was needed to help the body cast off waste poisons quickly.

The need for this agent led to the discovery of a scientific method of emulsifying milk of magnesia and pure mineral oil.

Haley's Magnesia-Oil is the same of this wonderful new discovery.

PAIR TAKEN BY ALERT POLICEMAN GET FIVE YEARS

Two Youths Sentenced for Robbery of Hotel on Jan. 8, in Which $72 Was Taken.

THIRD MAN IS UNDER INDICTMENT

Sergeant, Walking in Alley at 2:45 A. M., Saw Light and Found Three Men Dividing Loot.

Two hotel robbers were sentenced yesterday to five years in prison each, through the alertness of a veteran Police Sergeant, demonstrated by peering in the rear window of a lighted room at 2:45 o'clock in the morning.

It will be recalled that Sgt. Steve Collins was walking in an alley at that hour on Jan. 8, when he was attracted by a light in a rooming house at 4637 Delmar boulevard. The curtain was drawn, but by getting up close he was able to peer under it at the bottom of the window. He saw three youths dividing money and they had a black tin strong box and several revolvers. He called reinforcements and the youths were arrested.

The grand jury, in indicting the youths for the robbery of the Edison Hotel, 197 North Eighteenth street, which had occurred 30 minutes before their arrest, and from which the strong box had been taken, complained, Sgt. Collins for his alertness. A jury in Circuit Judge Itner's court added to the Sergeant's satisfaction by its verdict yesterday.

Pair Convicted. Those convicted were Joseph Passafiume, 19, a fruit seller, of 1153 Walton avenue, and Pete Licavoli, 18, a huckster, of 1624 Carr street. Their alibi was disregarded by the jury and the conviction was based on strong circumstantial evidence.

The hotel robbers had taken $72, besides the strong box, some papers and three revolvers. The night clerk, W. F. McCall, who was held up, testified he could not identify the defendants as the robbers because his unwelcome guests had concealed their faces well. However, Sgt. Collins testified that he found the strong box at the rooming house and C. J. Maueck, day clerk, identified the box and some of the stolen papers it had contained as his.

Third Man to Be Tried Later. The third man indicted is Max Stein, 19, a huckster, of 1624 Carr street, who is to be tried later. Passafiume testified that he, Licavoli and Stein were at the home of Mrs. Martha Snyder, 4625 Maryland avenue, at the time of the robbery, and Mrs. Snyder testified to the same effect. Licavoli is under sentence of two years in a larceny case.

GOVERNOR APPEALED TO IN MISSOURI U. LIQUOR INQUIRY

Prosecutor Would Offer Reward for Arrest of Woman Who Brought Liquor to Columbia.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 26.—Prosecuting Attorney Ruby M. Hulen of Boone County today asked Acting Governor Lloyd to authorize offering of a reward by the State for information leading to the arrest and conviction of a woman alleged to have transported whisky to students of the University of Missouri at Columbia.

The request grows out of an investigation being conducted by Hulen into an alleged liquor drinking party and subsequent events, which followed a sorority dance at a hotel in Columbia the night of Feb. 15. An investigation by university authorities resulted in the suspension of 11 students, including both men and women.

Lloyd said there was no precedent for the State offering a reward in such a case, as the appropriation made available to the Governor for rewards has been construed to apply only in cases of murder and other serious crimes. The request was referred to Attorney-General Barrett for possible employment of investigators with State funds.

$100,000 PAID FOR A TITIAN Artist, Who Bought Painting for $150, Never Knew Its Value.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—An authentic Titian, owned for 33 years by an artist who never suspected its true worth, has been purchased by Linwood M. Andrews, Los Angeles art collector, for $100,000, the Los Angeles Times said today.

Adolph Brugier of Santa Barbara, who owned the painting, the Times says, bought it at an auction in Florence, Italy, while he was studying art there in his youth, paying for it the equivalent of $100 in American money. Experts have pronounced it genuine, and identified it as "The Madonna, Holy Child and Titian's Daughter, Lavinia," and long believed to have been lost with other works of art in a fire that swept Madrid.

REED HEARD BY ABOUT 5000 AT ST. JOSEPH

Senator Renews Attack on McAdoo and His Campaign Managers in Missouri.

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Feb. 23.—Continuing his fight on William G. McAdoo, an opponent for the Democratic presidential nomination, United States Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, in an address here last night, expressed the doubt as to whether McAdoo could carry a single state as a result of the oil revelations.

"Is there anyone in this auditorium," he asked, "who believes Mr. McAdoo could carry a single state in the Union?"

Five Cabinet and former Cabinet officers, Senator Reed said, had been employed by oil interests in recent years for large fees. With the possible exception of Garrison, he asserted, the Cabinet members were employed more for their political influence than for legal services.

Charges as to Fall.

Albert Fall resigned a superior position in the Senate to accept an inferior position as Secretary of the Interior, "as part of a previously formed conspiracy to loot the oil reserves," Reed charged.

Reading from the transcript of testimony before the Senate Oil Investigating Committee, Senator Reed cited the testimony of E. L. Doherty, oil operator, that he had employed McAdoo a year after his resignation from the Cabinet and paid him $100,000 for services in Washington in connection with Mexican oil properties. The Senator gave emphasis to Doherty's statement that the former Secretary's services in Washington terminated with the Wilson administration.

"What was McAdoo selling and what was Doherty buying?" the speaker asked. "Was it political influence or legal services? I'll let Mr. Long and Mr. Vandiver answer that."

The Senator was referring to Breckinridge Long, former Third Assistant Secretary of State, and W. D. Vandiver, head of the League of Loyal Democrats, who opposed Senator Reed's re-election in 1922. Both are active McAdoo supporters in Missouri and have attacked Reed's candidacy in recent statements.

"I notice by the evening paper that Attorney-General Daugherty has gone to Florida," said Reed. "It's funny they all go to Florida. Fall went there, McAdoo went there and so did A. Mitchell Palmer and the President's secretary."

Senator Reed defended the action of Senate in demanding the resignation of Secretary of the Navy Denby and criticized President Coolidge for refusing to accede to the demand.

President Coolidge Assailed.

"President Coolidge," he said, "folded his arms and said it was beneath his executive dignity to receive such a communication from the Senate. But the Constitution guarantees the right of petition, and when Coolidge ignored this senatorial petition, well, he put the Coolidge brand on it, that's all."

"But Denby later resigned under fire because he had been guilty of wrong doing it was the President's duty to discharge him immediately. If the Naval Secretary was innocent, the President should not have crucified him for political reasons."

The speaker said the committee's investigation showed the naval reserve oil leases had been kept secret 20 to 25 days, "so plenty of time was given to play the stock market and enrich we know not whom but we propose to find out."

The city auditorium, which has a capacity of 5000, was nearly filled for the address.

Armation, according to Federal authorities, in which he admitted theft of the checks and tells of cashing some of them in Los Angeles, Omaha, St. Louis and Atchison, Kan., for a total of $4999.

'Here's Why'

HOSTESSES do like to experiment. At this dinner party it will be a new salad, at the next one a new dessert and there is always a little anxiety whether the experiment will be a happy one.

But these same hostesses refuse to experiment with the coffee—it must be good. That is the reason why thousands of them serve Yale Coffee, party after party, because its flavor is always the same.

New changing quality of the coffee bean, the same careful roasting and double-checking of the coffee beans for Yale's company.

ASKS THAT BREWERY BE ADJUDGED NUISANCE

Dyott Files Suit in Federal Court—Seizure of Griestock Plant Sought.

An injunction proceeding to restrain the Griestock Bros. Brewery Co., 1900 Shennandoah avenue, under the nuisance clause of the Volstead act, was filed in the United States District Court yesterday by John C. Dyott, special Assistant Attorney-General.

The petition sets forth that the brewery, fined $1000 on its plea of guilty to a charge of violating the act in 1921, and found to have 600 cases of real beer prepared for distribution when it was raided by Federal agents a week ago, has been a persistent violator of the law.

The Government asks that the brewery be adjudged a nuisance and that an injunction against the manufacture of intoxicating beverages on the premises be issued. The court is also asked to order the seizure of the plant by the Government so that it may be sold to pay all fines, assessments, penalties and costs that may be levied against it as a result of the recent violation.

The beer seized at the brewery was taken by Gus O. Nations and his men while a squad of general agents, under the direction of W. Moss, divisional chief, was in the vicinity of the plant waiting for an opportunity to take the same action, as part of an investigation of charges that the brewery was paying as high as $1000 a week for "protection" in the manufacture and distribution of its illegal product. Since the seizure the beer has been removed to the Jack Daniels Distilling Co. warehouse, 3960A Duncan avenue, which is under seizure by the Government.

EXPERIMENTS IN EFFORT TO EVOLVE PNEUMONIA CURE

Recently Discovered Antitoxin Being Used on Patients in Four Hospitals.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Secret experiments with a recently discovered antitoxin through which scientists hope to evolve a cure for pneumonia are being conducted in hospitals in Chicago, New York, Boston and Pittsburgh, under the direction of the American Public Health Association.

Dr. William Park, president of the association and director of laboratories of the New York Health Department, and Prof. Milton Rosenau of the department of hygiene of Harvard University are making a tour of the four cities to see if the experiments are being conducted correctly. They are now in Chicago conferring with municipal health authorities. The antitoxin is a serum obtained from a horse into which live pneumonia germs have been injected. The resistance of the healthy animal slowly conquers the germs and serum is extracted from blood taken from the horse. Only the globulin is used after the serum is detoxicated. It is injected into the patient and the harmless germs are expected to neutralize the human body.

At each hospital the treatment is given to every other pneumonia victim, who is accorded the other prescribed methods for treating pneumonia at the same time. Recovery, it is said, has followed in nearly every case.

TWO HURT WHEN BUS IS UPSET

Belleville Women Injured in Accident at Twelfth and Chouteau.

An automobile bus carrying a party of Belleville, Ill., women was overturned in a collision with an automobile at Twelfth street and Chouteau avenue yesterday, resulting in injuries to Mrs. Clara Huetting, 25, and Mrs. Alva Holman, a year older.

Oscar Munle, of O'Fallon, Ill., the bus driver, was going west and swerved too late to avoid the other machine which was eastbound. The injured women were taken to their homes suffering with scalp wounds.

Earl Stein, 7, 4399E Gibson avenue, was cut on the scalp when run down by an automobile in front of 4440 Chouteau avenue yesterday.

Fred Bayrs, 50, 4123 Lee avenue, and Oscar Lloyd, 4265 Fair avenue, were pinned beneath Bayrs' Ford when the machine was overturned at Taylor avenue and Page boulevard in a collision with another automobile. Bayrs was taken to the City Hospital, suffering from injuries to his back. Lloyd was cut and bruised.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and lustrant.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Virtually

A Million Children Who Slave

Pennsylvania Is Long on Dwarfs,
If Breaker Boys Tell the Truth

Many Tiny 16-Year-Olds Inhaling Coal Dust and Earning Wages Under Law that Permits Any Age Record.

THIS is the eleventh of a series of articles by a correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World, who has just returned from a 6000-mile tour of the coal fields of Pennsylvania in which he made a survey of child labor and its effect, mentally, morally and physically.

One child in every 12 between the ages of 10 and 15 in the United States has to work. Thousands of others below the age of 10 are engaged in some "gainful occupation."

By Henry F. Pringle.

Boys who boast that they are 16 years old and who work in the coal breakers of Pennsylvania are amazingly small and dwarfed. Many of them would pass for boys of 10 and 12, and it is hard to believe that any are older than 14.

But they work in the roar and dust of the breakers, none the less, picking out the rock and the slate as the coal slides on toward the waiting freight cars, and breathing in their lungs the clouds of powdered black fuel. The combination of Pennsylvania's lax enforcement of her child labor laws and the high wages that can be earned by boys in the breakers has placed a premium on falsification of birth records. There is not the slightest doubt that large numbers of these breaker boys are under 16, and that many are younger than 14.

No matter where the mine, through the gashed and scarred hillsides of the Pennsylvania hard coal districts, the story is the same. At Wilkes-Barre it is possible to see these small boys working in a dozen breakers. At night they come home as black of face and clothing as the older men who dig the coal along the streets of the city. So it is in Shamokin, at Mahanoy City and at Shenandoah.

The coal operators cannot be held responsible. Even though the Pennsylvania law permits the employment of boys of 14 and over in the breakers, nearly all of the coal companies have ruled that 16 is the minimum age. This is because the Pennsylvania law requires that working children between 14 and 16 shall go to school for one day a week. This is a nuisance and an inconvenience.

Asked About Their Ages.

The correspondent questioned a number of small boys who were playing near the shaft of one of the mines at Wilkes-Barre. He asked them just assured by the superintendent that no boys under 16 were employed in the breakers and none under 18 in the mine itself. Then the whistle blew for the noon hour luncheon period and the boys could be seen outside in the yard.

"Sure I'm 16," boasted one of them who could not have weighed more than 60 pounds and who was about 4 feet tall. "Do I look 16? Gimme a cigarette."

"Like hell, he's 16," remarked a teamster who was passing. "They all lie, these kids. There's doves about here in the breakers just as small as him."

The correspondent then asked the boy whether he could find work for a 14-year-old boy in Wilkes-Barre. The embryo miner looked blank for a moment.

"Sure," he said, "but tell him to lie about his age. The company don't take boys under 16. But there's a lot of jobs. He can get one if he's got a blue card."

These boys, according to the superintendents of the mines, can earn as much as $25 a week by working eight hours a day. Where education is generally considered of little value, for most of these children are born of Polish and Russian immigrants, the temptation to local than the House and no one can predict just what kind of bill will finally be agreed upon. Watson said, "I do not expect the Senate will be able to pass a bill carrying the 25 per cent maximum surtax recommended by Secretary Mellon."

A motion by Representative Fairchild (Rep., New York), to repeal the 5 per cent tax on jewelry, was defeated and the Ways and Means Committee action in continuing from this tax all jewelry articles valued for less than $40 and watches of less than $50 was approved.

An attempt by Representative Hayden (Dem., Arizona), to amend the bill so that it should apply to all automobiles was blocked on a point of order.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.

HERE is an odd little sidelight on the character of Henry Cabot Lodge. Henry Stuydam recently wrote a light piece for his paper about Lodge, comparing him with Talleyrand, the French statesman who survived the Revolution, the Napoleon empire and was still doing business at the old stand under the restored Bonapartes when Napoleon fell. So Lodge, said the writer, promised to outlast the upstart Corsicans of the present hour, the Brookharts and the Magnuses of the future.

Law in Chaotic Condition.

This falsification is due to the chaotic condition of the State child labor control. Dr. Royal Meeker, Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry at Harrisburg, explained that it was impossible effectively to enforce the standards because of the large number of duties that had been heaped upon the department.

These include the enforcement of the fire and public act, inspection of safety devices in factories, the enforcement of the women's act, watching the health of employees in bakeries and a multitude of other duties.

It is apparent, however, that the law itself rather than the lax enforcement is responsible for the situation. The Department of Labor and Industry has nothing to do with the issuance of working certificates. Nominally this is in the hands of the Department of Instruction, actually it rests with a thousand different officials of the city and county school systems, who are virtually without supervision.

Until a year ago, as a matter of fact, the Labor Department was not even permitted to enforce the labor law in the mines. It was left to the Department of Mines.

The Labor Department has "no means of knowing the number of children at work in any particular industry, unless it consults quarterly reports sent by the local school officials to the Department of Instruction, although it can, and naturally does, call on the local school officials for the duplicate copies of the cards in the various communities. But there is an utter lack of centralization in the system.

There is nothing to insure co-operation between the Department of Instruction and the Department of Labor and Industry. It would seem that Dr. Meeker could hardly enforce the law, even if he were allowed a thousand inspectors instead of 50.

"Proof" Is Very Elastic.

Proof of age is required of course, before the local school officials may issue the blue cards which admit these boys to the coal breakers. But the provisions of the law are elastic in this respect. Age may be proved by a birth certificate, Bible record, a baptismal record, a passport, a school record, or through the statement of a physician that the child in question is actually as old as he appears to be.

What is actually happens, according to the virtually unanimous opinion of the State officials and those who live in the mining communities, is that the boys who desire work obtain false proof of their age. Several of the mine superintendents said they had seen Bible records that had been obviously erased and a new date written in. Older brothers will procure certificates for younger members of the family. It was even reported that priests, their feelings overcome by either true or fabricated stories of poverty and the need for work, had issued false birth certificates.

So it is that the State officials are blocked, although they are of the opinion that in some cases boys under 16 are employed. They have no jurisdiction as far as the breakers are concerned, over the boys between 14 and 16, for the Pennsylvania law does not consider the breaker as a part of the mine. Under the Federal law, work in the breakers came under the same classification as in the mine itself.

take the necessary steps looking toward establishment under section 28 of the merchant marine act of 1920 of giving rail-and-ocean export rates, giving preference to American ships over foreign vessels.

The first move of the commission toward putting section 28 into operation, will be an inquiry along the lines suggested in the resolution adopted yesterday by the Shipping Board recommending that the railroad to arrange with American ship owners for through export rates and prevented from making such agreements with foreign companies.

The resolution certifying that sufficient American tonnage is now available to warrant the preferential rates excepted only grain shipments from the recommendation. It is expected that the through tariffs proposed will be lower under normal conditions than the sum of rail rates to seaboard and charges for destination, thus providing the inducement contemplated in the act for use of American ships by American exporters in preference to foreign vessels.

New York Bonus Bill Signed.

True Life Story

Woodrow Wilson

by David Lawrence

Dr. Wilson in the Class Room Often Expounded His Theory that President, Not Congress, Represented National Will.

Here is the fourth installment of a history of the life of the late President Woodrow Wilson. The writer, David Lawrence, a Washington correspondent who, during his student days at Princeton was a student under Mr. Wilson, was very close to him during his eight years in the White House and was cognizant of the important phases of Mr. Wilson's career. He tells the story of the great War President frankly and fairly, pointing out his weaknesses as well as his greatness. This history, chapters of which will appear in the Post-Dispatch from day to day until it is concluded, will rank as a notable contribution to the varied Wilson biographies that are certain to follow his death.

CHAPTER IV.

What Mr. Wilson Thought of His Contemporaries—Taft and Roosevelt—Their Methods of Dealing With Congress and His Own.

WOODROW WILSON was probably the only President of the United States who spent 20 years or more studying the power and duties of the chief executive long before he entered public life. The theory of government was his hobby. As a professor in Princeton University on constitutional government, his lectures were voted by the students year in and year out the most popular in the curriculum.

Little did I dream as I took notes with my classmates in the spring of 1909 that exactly four years later the professor before us would be actually applying his doctrines of government in the White House and that I would be reporting them for the Associated Press.

What was said in the lecture room in those days was by common consent a private affair. Reporters were never present. And for that reason Dr. Wilson was as free with his comments on current news as if he were in the seclusion of his own home.

It was April, 1909, and President Taft had just been inaugurated after a record-breaking vote. The new President was beginning to struggle with the tariff. Aldrich was in command of the United States Senate and Cannon was enthroned in the House of Representatives. Dr. Wilson would read to us a paragraph or two from the daily newspapers giving the gist of Washington dispatches on the legislative situation and would make his comments thereon.

President Responsible to All

"Nobody in Congress," he used to say again and again, "represents the national will. Every member of the House or Senate represents his district or his State—his section. The sum total of their desires is not the national will. Only one man, the chief executive, is responsible to all the people. He must assume leadership and determine what is best for all and not for one section or group or class. If President Taft appreciates that he will make headway. If he does not, he will fail."

Presently the dispatches from Washington announced that President Taft had summoned Messrs. Aldrich and Cannon and other Republican leaders in Congress to the White House urging them to frame a tariff law that would be in the national interest. This particular development elicited from Dr. Wilson warm expressions of approval and prompted a comment on the Rooseveltian attitude toward Congress.

"Whatever else we may think or say of Theodore Roosevelt," remarked Dr. Wilson, "we must admit that he was an aggressive leader. He led Congress—he was not driven by Congress. We may not approve of his method, but we must concede that he made Congress follow him."

Two years later, when Woodrow Wilson had been inaugurated Governor of New Jersey after a campaign that was full of cynicism about the legislative Committee. This bill was designed to supplement the traffic code and eliminate a clause which would vest rule-making authority in Director Fisk.

Director Fisk and President Brookman of the Police Board protested against the traffic council ordinance, contending that it would be an advisory body with no more authority than the individuals now have.

Chairman Brod announced his committee would meet Wednesday to draft amendments to the traffic code. A clause fixing the definite maximum speed will probably be inserted, and the clause permitting auto to pass standing street cars if there is an eight-foot clearance will probably be abolished, he said. The clause providing jail sentences for speeders is expected to remain. In spite of a question of legality, as a test case is planned immediately should the traffic code become operative.

SIX NAMES ON MICHIGAN PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY BALLOT

Coolidge, La Follette, Hiram W. Johnson, W. G. Simpson, Ford and Ferris Certified.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 28.—Six names have been certified by the Secretary of State for places on the Michigan presidential preference primary ballot to be voted upon April 7. With the lists closing March 1, there has been no indication that additional names will be entered.

Four candidates whose names are to appear in the Republican column are President Calvin Coolidge, United States Senator Robert M. La Follette and Hiram W. Johnson, and William G. Simpson of Detroit. Petitions for Senator Johnson were filed yesterday.

Henry Ford and Woodbridge N. Ferris, United States Senator from Michigan, have been certified for

M'ADOO MAY COME TO MISSOURI FOR ANSWER TO REED

If He Speaks in St. Louis, It Probably Will Be Within a Week Because of Convention's Approach.

ANTI-REED CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN TOMORROW

His Opponents Feel He Has Laid Himself Open to Any Attack They Can Devise.

William G. McAdoo, whom Senator James A. Reed is attacking nightly on the stump in the contest for Missouri's presidential endorsement at the New York convention, may come to Missouri next week to reply to Reed.

David L. Rockwell, McAdoo's campaign manager, announced in New York yesterday, according to an Associated Press dispatch, that McAdoo would make a speech in Missouri and that the place and time would be determined by the Missouri McAdoo Campaign Committee.

J. C. Oliver, Missouri manager for McAdoo, said today that he did not think it likely that McAdoo would come to Missouri. If McAdoo does appear here, it will be within a week from this time, as the election of delegates to the State convention at Springfield will be held March 7, which is Friday of next week. Delegates to the New York convention will be chosen by the Springfield gathering.

Will Attack Reed's Record.

Whether McAdoo speaks in Missouri or not, there will be an active anti-Reed campaign, with meetings throughout the State, next week. The first meeting announced is that to be held tomorrow night in the Odessa, where State Senator Frank H. Varrin of Rolla, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, will analyze Reed's record as a Democrat, and Charles M. Hay of St. Louis will attack the Senator on his official record.

Bills for the Odessa meeting do not contain McAdoo's name. They ask the question:

Is James A. Reed entitled to Missouri democracy's endorsement for President of the United States upon his record?

Bland, Cockrell and Clark were—and they got it.

How about Reed?

As was told yesterday, the Missouri opponents of Reed, whom the Senator has likened to "flea dogs" who have been "kerosene," are trying to "kerosene" Reed by bringing out facts as to his legal connection with the Universal Oil Products Co.

Reed is counsel in a suit now pending for the Universal Oil Products Co., which controls the patent on a process for increasing the production of gasoline from crude oil. His opponents have charged that the Armour packing interests control the Universal concern, and that Reed is to get a $1,000,000 fee if he wins the case. Reed says the $1,000,000 part is "commodity."

More Anti-Reed Than Pro-McAdoo.

By his violent attack on McAdoo, in his Pershing Theater speech Monday night and in his Hannibal and St. Joseph speeches since, Reed has made it possible for his opponents to attack him with out reserve or excuses. He has made it possible for his enemies to make the fight an anti-Reed one, even more than a pro-McAdoo one.

The main thing, in the view of Reed's opponents, is to elect a State delegation which will be against Reed. This, they believe, will dispose of Reed, as they do not believe he can seek delegates from other States effectively if his own State turns him down.

Streckfildridge Long persists in his charge that Reed is not a sincere aspirant for the presidential nomination, but is a stalking-horse for William Randolph Hearst. Long charges that it is Reed's plan to receive a complimentary vote for himself on the first ballot and then turn his vote over to Hearst. Reed has denied this, but Long says his declarations have had an evasive sound. Long says Reed should be required to say whether, under any circumstances, he would give his own support or throw his delegation to Hearst.

The Democratic ticket, Ford, however, announced some time ago that he would not run against President Coolidge. Despite this announcement there has been no effort to have his name withdrawn and unless such notification is received before the expiration of the time for filing petitions his name will go on the ballot.

No petitions for William G. McAdoo or other avowed candidates for the Democratic nomination have yet appeared at the Secretary of State's office.

Railroad Clerks' Wages.

SEMPER FIDELIS, after reading your letter in this column several days ago, entitled "Railroad Clerks' Wages," I figured it was just about time that someone exposed the low wages paid railroad employees, especially those in the local freight office.

I am employed in a local freight office several blocks from Franklin avenue, and it sure is a disgrace the salaries that are paid married men for the always faithful service they give the railroads—men who have spent from 10 to 15 years in the service, giving the best they have and receiving the miserly pay of $120 per month.

How can a married man with two children get by on this salary without having his wife take in washing to help keep the home fires burning? It can't be done. If I had it to do over again I never would get married and work in a railroad office.

As to promotions, I have seen clerks in this office promoted four times within a month and their pay didn't advance $1. Yesterday an extra man was hired and his pay to start with was just 25 cents less per day than mine, although I have been here for 12 years. But that doesn't make any difference. No doubt it is the same in your office—they are all alike. The clerk who starts today is paid just as much as the one who started 30 years ago.

Why couldn't a beginner's salary pay $75 to $80 per month and apply the difference, $25 or $30, to different jobs so that a promotion would be worth something? I understand our local union is dickering for an increase, but it is only going to be 2 cents per hour.

ANOTHER CLERK.

A Neglected Street.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
A SPECIAL invitation is extended to our Street Commissioner to look at the fierce condition on Delmar boulevard west of Hamilton avenue. The street is full of holes, paving covered with dirt in wet weather, dust in dry weather, sidewalks (?) absolutely impassable, not even a layer of cinders, which we have merely enjoyed. No one can reach Roosevelt on foot in good or bad weather. De Giverville is wrecking machines every day, the holes are deep enough to bury a cow. There is no walk whatever on this street from Delmar. Alley is not even paved, although same is paved to Hamilton avenue, and others in this vicinity are taken care of. Why is this not attended to during the summer months? We occasionally get a few loads of macadam or clinders thrown into the street by five laborers to each load with two horses. Once we had a steam roller. We seldom get any oil. The corner of Delmar and De Giverville is adorned by a shed used as an oil station, with wooden sheds behind it. How do they "get by" with this? The argument about new viaduct has nothing to do with this condition. The cinders, at least, can be spread, street kept in normal shape, alley can be paved and wooden sheds removed. It is a positive disgrace to the town.

PROPERTY OWNER.

Automobiles vs. Street Cars.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
In answer to our friend X. Y. X. of Feb. 26, on "Street Cars vs. Automobiles in Cold Weather." In the first place, our friend only thinks he has an automobile. We will let him think so. The writer is compelled to be at work at 7 a. m. each day and transfers to the University-Olive line at Euclid avenue, going downtown, and finds the cars at that time of the morning as cold as a refrigerator. I would like to take X. Y. X. and his friend, Col. Perkins, and strap them both to a seat in one of the University-Olive cars I refer to and ride them around for about an hour some cold morning and I venture to say X. Y. X. will change his tune and get quick and either get a real automobile or fix Lizzie up so that he can start her without the $14 expense each winter. I suggest he buy a real automobile and he will find that it will start, regardless of the temperature.

Now, as to the proper heating of the street cars: If the United Railways will only start their fires before the cars are permitted to leave the barn and allow them to become thoroughly heated before starting on their runs as they should do, the complaints will stop. I would suggest a health officer be assigned to some of these refrigerators of the United Railways and record the temperature and make a case against the United Railways, and compel them to heat their cars before allowing the public to use them. It is a shame to see some poor unfortunate in those cold cars with only enough clothing to cover them at three and freeze.

DEMOCRACY'S WORST FOES.

Slow returns from rural districts leave the complete results of the constitutional election in doubt, but there is practical certainty with regard to several amendments, and strong probability is indicated with regard to others.

With two-thirds of the vote and one-half of the precincts reported, nine amendments seem to be safe. These are amendment 1, relating to the bill of rights; amendment 4, relating to the bonus; amendment 5, touching impeachment of State officers; amendment 9, regulating the exercise of the elective franchise and authorizing examination of ballots in election contests, grand jury investigations and the trials of civil and criminal cases in which violations of election laws are charged; amendment 11, providing for home rule and city expansion, and other matters of importance to cities, towns and villages; amendment 18, regulating the removal from office and prohibiting nepotism; amendment 19, relating to Kansas City's powers with regard to bonds and other local financial matters; amendment 20, relating to the Constitution; amendment 21, providing for carrying the proposed amendments into effect and continuing in force existing laws, pending the changes.

Of the others, two have a fair chance of success—amendment 12 limiting the taxing power and authorizing cities to finance local improvements through the creation of revolving funds, and amendment 6, providing for reorganizing the executive and administrative departments of the State, and for an executive budget. Two or three others have bare chances, and the remainder are undoubtedly defeated.

Among the important amendments defeated are those relating to court reform and tax reform. The combination against the former was too strong in a light vote, with so much public indifference and without a well financed organization to fight for the amendment. The opposition embraced powerful influences, from Judges on the Supreme bench to gangsters in the cities. It included corporations, corporate attorneys and chrysters who profit by technicalities and tricks and delays which tend to defeat justice. Tax reform suffered from a combination of interests, although a clear understanding of the substance and effect of the amendment should have rallied the great body of voters to its support.

A conspicuous and discouraging feature of the election, namely, the apathy of voters with regard to vital questions affecting the public welfare, is emphasized by the late returns from the interior of the State.

The greatest dangers to democracy are popular ignorance and indifference.

C. BASCOM'S COINCIDENCE.

C. Bascom Siemp, private secretary to the President, told the Senate committee under oath last Monday that when in Palm Beach in December and January, "I met Mr. McLean casually several times. I can't fix dates. I was there for health and recreation." Later on he said:

"I want you to understand I had no knowledge of official mission down there. I wasn't representing President Coolidge, but seeking recreation."

Telegraphic records examined by the Senate committee have since revealed that a message sent by Major, an employee of Edward B. McLean, from Washington to McLean in Palm Beach, on Dec. 22, contained the sentence:

Mr. Siemp and Mr. Whaley leave tonight, 9-10 o'clock, for Palm Beach.

The coincidence of the Siemp sojourn at Palm Beach "for health and recreation" and his frequent dinners at McLean's home, where Fall, who kept his address secret, was also a guest, is growing more and more mysterious. Mr. Siemp's urbanity and the leased wire by which McLean might have easy access to the White House do not assist in clearing the public mind in favor of Siemp's veracity.

Is Mr. Siemp to become the most burden too heavy for the White House to carry without certainty of shipwreck?

IMPROVING HOSPITAL FACILITIES.

With the early completion of the St. Mary's Hospital having a capacity of 250 beds, the Shriner's Hospital for Children, with 50 beds, and the new Jewish Hospital, to be begun in April and completed at a total cost of $2,000,000, hospital facilities in St. Louis will be greatly improved. A recent investigation showed the imperative need for more hospital buildings and more beds, especially for the poorer classes of patients.

The new Jewish Hospital, to be erected at King's highway and Forest Park boulevard, will be specially designed to fill the need of persons of moderate or small means. It will have 250 beds, 125 of which will be ward beds, either free or partly free. And, as has been the rule with the old Jewish Hospital, it will be open to patients of all creeds or none. Need will be the open sesame. As Rabbi Leon Harrison truly says, the erection of this monument of mercy is the best answer to religious prejudice. "It represents the heart and soul of the Jewish religion, its tenderness to the stricken of all races and nationalities, its pity for the destitute, its broad humanity."

All but $750,000 of the $2,000,000 needed for this new hospital is in hand. The campaign to raise this balance will be held March 17 to 24. The facts above stated, and the well-known reputation of the existing Jewish Hospital for good work, in the benefits of which all St. Louis people who have needed it have shared, will undoubtedly make the campaign a gratifying success. This is a St. Louis project, to be undertaken for the people by our Jewish citizens.

PERILS OF PIE.

A dietitian has just warned the people of St. Louis against the perils of pie, and, if what she says is true, as we have no reason to doubt, the warning has come none too soon.

Pie may look innocent, but it isn't; it is guileful, treacherous and has a criminal streak. Not to mind words, when you eat pie you have joined the scoundrels. The crust, it seems, immediately starts the saliva, which, properly enough, converts the starch into sugar. All is well so far, but not an instant farther. For then comes the apple, as insidious in pie as it was in that ancient Eden. The apple, we are informed, at once dams the salivary glands. And the rest is an evil tale. For the sugar, left to its own devices, sets up a wicked fermentation and, presently, we have a distillery in our midst and, anon, torrents of alcohol swirl and eddy along the alimentary canal.

Does someone arise to ask what's to be done about it? A morose query. Pie is a sinful contrivance which must be put in the tabu with all the other imps of Bacchus.

A FAULTY INDICTMENT.

Public indifference and lack of co-operation may be responsible, to some extent, for the epidemic of crime, as charged by President Brockman of the Police Board in a talk the other day; but the severity of his verdict might successfully be appealed from and counts in his indictment were not well chosen.

It will doubtless be agreed that if employers paid by check instead of by cash, as the Police Board has requested, the payroll robber would be out of a job. The crime, however, might wonder if that would prove to be an unmixed blessing. With his specialty extinct, would not the payroll robber turn to other fields of activity, such as housebreaking and holdups and thus add to the public's anxiety and danger? That, perhaps, is begging the question, but in its present state of helplessness the civic may retort by saying that the public is reduced to beggary.

Mr. Brockman's other counts were less plausible. For example, the small attendance at a church meeting advertised to discuss law enforcement cannot fairly be construed as lack of public interest in the subject of law enforcement. We believe it may more truly be described as lack of public interest in the particular phase of law enforcement with which so many churches have come to be almost exclusively concerned. The organized agitation for law enforcement today has to do with summary laws which a great many people consider tyrannical, a still greater number consider objectionable and which a majority do not obey. That, admittedly, is a lamentable condition, but it is a condition, nevertheless.

As for the dissimulation of victims of holdups to identify their assailants, which Mr. Brockman cited as indifference, a more accurate term may possibly be found. The fate of a witness in one memorable daylight robbery is still fresh in the public mind. It is particularly vivid, we imagine, in the mind of any citizen summoned to identify a suspect. Call it discretion—call it plain cowardice, if you will—but don't misjudge it as indifference. And if it is labeled cowardice seek the reason for it.

The reason will easily be found. It lies in the courts, in their inability to deal competently with criminals. If the lawless can defy the great agencies of government designed and presumably equipped to punish the lawless, what guarantee of protection has the individual citizen who identifies a footpad? The odds are that he will be killed as soon as the footpad is released from temporary restraint by the professional bondsmen.

That the police are working under hazardous and almost insuperable difficulties must be acknowledged. Such being the case, Mr. Brockman's complaint against the public may be listened to patiently, though not approvingly. The complaint confuses effects with causes. Mr. Brockman is but skimming the surface. It is the breakdown of criminal law that is responsible for the ever-growing lawlessness.

THE PUBLICITY PRIZE.

Frank Hendrick, a New York lawyer, who is suing Edward W. Bok for $1,000,000 because the latter failed to award him the peace prize, represents in one personality the oldest and newest thing under the sun. The oldest thing under the sun is the man who picks the child of his own brain as the best of them all. The newest thing under the sun is the unprecedented nerve of Mr. Hendrick.

But these wonders are too many and great to be convincing. There must be something else at stake, and the key seems to be in the reckoning of the alleged damages. The prize which Hendrick says he should have had comes to $100,000. Then, says the plaintiff, Bok received $1,000,000 worth of publicity. Of course, Bok did not steal this publicity from Hendrick, and we don't believe Hendrick expects to be awarded money payment. What he is after is $1,000,000 worth of publicity of his own. A discriminating publicity bloodhound, it seems to us, might first ask himself: "What kind of publicity?"

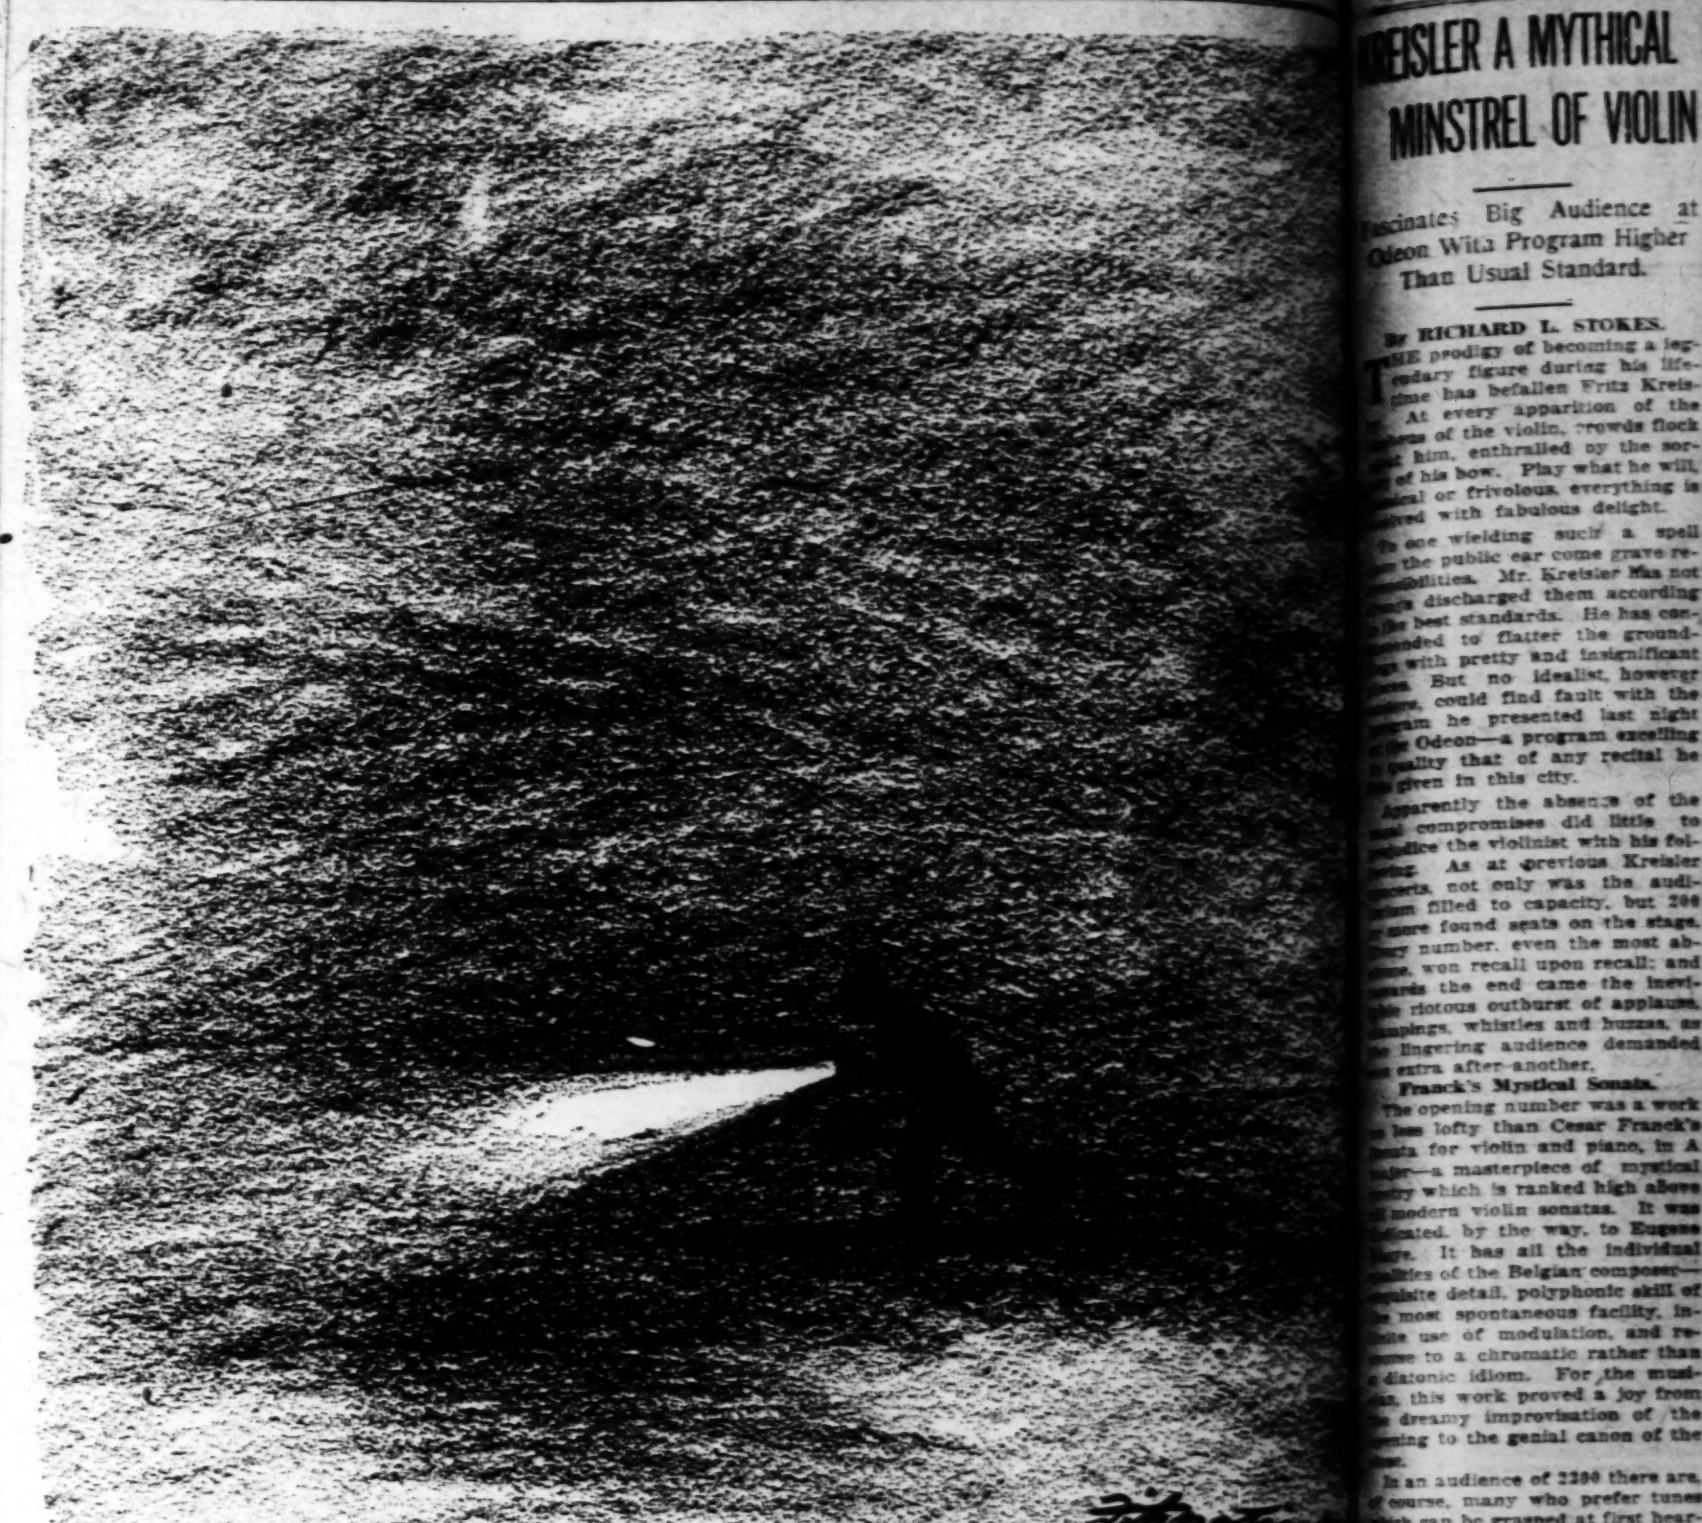

THE BONDSMAN'S TRADE.

If the business of underwriting professional crooks is not the most precarious business in the world there must be a reason. Notwithstanding that fact the returns seem to be inviting. In the past four years, as revealed by a Post-Dispatch investigation, bonds in the Circuit Courts to the value of $94,250 were ordered forfeited. It might be expected that no sane person would touch such a business. On the contrary, those engaged in it are of the most hard-headed variety. Certain factors of the law of averages, are dependable.

If a defendant fails to appear for trial that does not end the matter. Forfeitures now pending in the Circuit Courts total $49,530. Judgments have been entered for $48,200. Of these $20,700 remain unsatisfied. A few forfeitures have been appealed. Three conditions on which professional bonding is based might cause apprehension. One is that bondsmen are accepted without proof of their financial responsibility. An instance is that of a bondsman who, after incumbrances were deducted, was found to be almost without tangible property, but has against him an outstanding forfeiture of $10,000 and has appealed a judgment against a $20,000 bond.

Another fact which concerns the public is that, while the honor of crooks never could be capitalized, beating justice by way of the law's devices has become a business asset. Criminals do not forfeit their liberty to save their bondsmen from loss but because they can remain at large without jumping bond. A further fact prejudicial to public safety is that the hazards of the business require that usury be high, and the natural way for a thug to finance his freedom after being apprehended for one crime is to go out and commit another.

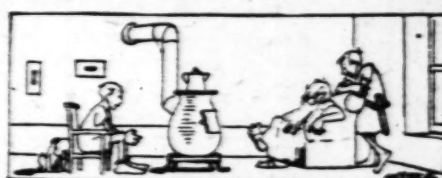

We believe the law covering bondsmen might be strengthened. The administration of justice must be poor if the chance of defeating justice can be capitalized into a business. If professional bonding could be made as hazardous as the honor of crooks, on which it is supposed to depend, it would soon disappear.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

SOCRATES: Perhaps you young men have observed how careful everyone is to say that Mr. Daugherty, the Attorney-General, is a good politician.

Socrates: It must be so. I read just the other day that Mr. Coolidge hesitates to throw Mr. Daugherty out of the Cabinet because a rupture between them would cost Mr. Coolidge the support of Ohio at the Cleveland convention.

Polemarchus: What had you in mind about it?

Socrates: Only this. Polemarchus: Could a good politician get himself into the fix Mr. Daugherty is in?

Thrasymachus: That would not, I dare say, be the sort of thing a good politician would manage.

Socrates: No, it would not. Some time ago, before the present upheaval in Washington, it was said that Mr. Coolidge is a good politician. Would you say the plight in which he finds himself now indicates political adroitness upon his part?

Glauccon: Would you say so, Socrates?

Socrates: I would not. The point I want to make is that there probably is no such thing as a good politician. They used to tell us that Mr. Wilson was a born politician, yet his political failure was at last colossal. Back of that Mr. Roosevelt enjoyed great fame as a politician. When he tried to break the third-term precedent the bubble burst in a way to hurt soap into the eyes of his most ardent admirers.

Polemarchus: Maybe these men are politically luckier at times than politically wise.

Socrates: Precisely what I suspect. I have been reaching this conclusion for a long time, and have been singularly interested in the case of Mr. Daugherty. I had never heard of him when he was discovered to us as the political brains behind Mr. Harding. When Mr. Denby left the Cabinet he was freely predicted that to get Mr. Daugherty out would be another story, since the latter is a politician. Has it seemed to any of you that he has handled himself in complete confirmation of that reputation?

Thrasymachus: No.

Socrates: As a matter of fact, they never do. Mr. Coolidge sat in the Senate and heard the original debates over the oil lease. He heard men predict that these would in time damn everybody who had anything to do with them or sought to defend them. It was the most important matter before him when he went into the White House, the one most jeopardizing his political fortunes. Did he pounce upon it like a good politician and catch the Democrats flat-footed?

Polemarchus: He did not.

Socrates: Did Mr. Daugherty, another good politician, spring into it while the springing was good and make himself famous?

Thrasymachus: Not he.

Socrates: Exactly. They both did only because they were in a good position what everybody fanned as a good politician always does in an emergency. They hesitated, and are now lost. What I would like to ask is: When does a good politician give us an exhibition of good politics, and why do people famed as good politicians always show us the worst politics we ever see?

Glauccon: I think you are right. There is no such thing as a good politician.

Socrates: You agree, then, that like most of the things in which we have always believed there really is no such thing?

Glauccon: Precisely. I never knew a so-called good politician who did not get himself in bad, and as far as I could see he always did that by pulling a political bone.

Socrates: So that is settled. Now let us all put our ears to the ground very softly and see if we can hear the hushed footfalls of C. Bascom Siemp.

What is to become of home life in Missouri if amendment No. 18, as now seems likely, is adopted? This amendment proposes to prohibit appointment of kindred to office. If it has passed, we must break up all the happy family groups on the public payroll and send everybody home but the individual elected to office. We cannot imagine a greater domestic tragedy afflicting Missouri, or one more likely to sacrifice the individual charm our politics have. It has always been lovely to go into a public office and meet not merely the official, but his wife, children and what ever other dependents the family imposed upon him. We have observed that public men usually have fine families. Perhaps they are not much for work, but are we still enamored of efficiency after what it did to the Germans? It was some crusty old bachelor, some hater of all the tender qualities of life, that slipped that proposal into the list.

From the statement of A. Mitchell Palmer:

A day or two afterwards McLean's regular counsel, Mr. Lambert, returned to the city and I have had nothing further to do with the matter since.

However, he is a much more fortunate public man who never did have anything to do with it already.

Maybe our expectations of voters in the constitutional election were not warranted. A doctor down at Canyon City, Tex., has analyzed the body of a man weighing 150 pounds. It contained "enough water to wash a pair of blankets, enough iron to make a tennypenny nail, lime sufficient to whiten a small chicken coop, enough sulphur to kill the fleas of a good-sized dog." All these elements, he estimated, can be purchased at a drug store for 95c.

Sir: From Jim Reed's St. Joseph speech, as reported in Globe-Democrat:

"Great God, the humblest person in the United States, has the right to petition for a redress of grievances."

(Note—I can't seem to think of a wise crack to make about that second comma.)

It looks as if Messrs. Hughes and Hoover were in a way to become famous as the political survivors of the Harding Cabinet.

Maybe this is a good time to read Mr. Coolidge's book, "Have Faith in Man."

Anyway, the boys who fought the war make us better about what they want.

ELECTIONEERING BY RADIO.

From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE spoke week before a gathering of men at a banquet table and out into an auditorium to address a group of men who listened and were able to follow his ments and gestures with their eyes. At the same time, in city apartments, in dwelling and isolated farm homes, in thousands of other American cities and in his own living rooms and heard every word of the same speech—heard the president of the United States explain to them their own freedom the problems he faced and what he thinks and plans to do for the life of the nation.

Since last a President was elected in America, a scientific toy has developed which has become an important factor in the life of the nation.

A group of minor pieces, all of admirable quality and some of them novel in the Kreidler repertoire, closed the program. There were Porpora's "Minuet" with its graceful and intricate displacement of accent; and there was that remarkable tour de force, Tartini's "Theme and Variations," which flashed its brilliance from a thicket of facts like a necklace of diamonds.

A "Melodie" by Paderewski, emotionally played if not emotionally conceived, followed; and then Chopin's "Mazurka," that beautiful in the daintiness of rhythm. Herzog's Viennese melody, "Midnight Bells," won such popularity as to compel a repetition; and Herzog's "Hungarian Fantasy," with its gypsy measures, gained the triumph. The extras were Brahms' Indian song, "Folk Song," "Tarewell to Calcutta," and "Caprice." Vienna's Carl Lamson, without whom no Kreidler recital would appear national, played the piano accompaniment like an extension of the violinist's personality.

The Kreidler looked tired and weary; few in the gathering were aware that he was suffering from a recent operation on his foot, which made it painful for him to stand. But despite all handicaps, he was once more the foremost hopeful. The attitude of the law agencies, prosecuting officers, and peace officers, determines in a large measure the fate of this evil. What we can, as great numbers of them do, year, show the courage and skill to back and foil mobs, and when we can, as this Alabama court, handle the law with the same active than in the minds of the other officers, we are preventing mob violence. The courts and courts both show determination to stamp out lynching by enforcing the law. The outlook for ultimate success in practice altogether becomes decidedly hopeful. COOLIDGE TO LET DAUGHERTY STAY PENDING INQUIRY

Attorney-General Ultimately Will Resign, and Senators Who Want Him Out Will Be Satisfied.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1932.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—President Coolidge has decided to stand pat and make his political opponents prove their case against any members of his Cabinet. He will accept the resignation of Attorney-General Daugherty only after the latter has had a full opportunity to refute the accusations made against him in the Senate of complicity in the oil affair.

This means that the Attorney-General succeeded in persuading Mr. Coolidge that nothing would be gained by outright surrender to the demand of the Democrats, and that the public would of necessity suspend judgment if no precipitate action were taken at this time.

Daugherty feels that no charges made against him can be proved. He is not going to embarrass Mr. Coolidge by giving the Democrats a campaign issue on his own personal fitness or unfitness for the Attorney-Generalship, but will resign, as he has long intended to do, because of his health. If the oil controversy had not arisen the chances are that Daugherty would have retired this spring.

Daugherty's Fighting Qualities. The manner in which Daugherty issued his brief statement and abruptly left the national capital for Florida indicates his characteristic fighting qualities. The Senate may pass the resolution demanding his resignation, but will they do so without giving him or his counsel an opportunity to be heard? Daugherty has the President's support in the course he is pursuing, and at Representative National Committee headquarters there is gratification that the President has not been stampeded into asking for a resignation at this time.

Looking at the question wholly from the political angle, Daugherty and ex-Secretary Denby both will be out of office before the campaign for the presidency is well under way. There were the two men on whom the attack was centered. The Democrats want to force other resignations on other grounds than the oil controversy, but the Republicans think if the Democrats go too far a reaction may set in that will help the Republicans instead of the Democrats.

So temporarily, at least, the Republican stronghold here are satisfied with the compromise that has been reached. The Republicans, like Senator Lodge, who thought Daugherty should resign will have their wish granted in a short time. Those who think Daugherty should fight back and make a defense that will at least create a division of opinion in political circles are to have their way too.

Explanation of Messages. Meanwhile the investigation by the Senatorial Committee is proceeding without uncovering anything really important. The messages passing between Edward B. McLean, Washington newspaper publisher, and his secretary and his attorney relative to his testimony before the Senatorial Committee, are the natural exchanges indulged in by a man in search of legal advice and the tactics of the lawyers who sought to advise him are exactly what lawyers who expect to get substantial fees for their services try to do when they have a perplexed client a thousand miles away from the scene of hostilities.

The two mysteries caused by the publication of two telegraph messages, in which two employees at the White House were mentioned, are not mysteries at all.

E. W. Smithers, chief telegrapher at the White House, was employed on the receiving end of McLean's telegraph. Smithers, like a score of other telegraphers in the Government service who are compelled to live on the meager pay of seven days, finds it necessary to work nights for newspaper bureaus and others maintaining telegraph wires.

E. W. Starling, secret service man, who telegraphed to McLean about a man named "Wilkins" at Lippinville, Ky., comes from the town and was simply getting in touch with Wilkins, a man employed to guard the McLean children. Starling had originally recommended him, and Wilkins went away on a vacation without leaving his address, and the only way he could be advised that he was to return to Washington was by looking up the man who had originally recommended him.

AUDITORIUM ITEM IS HELD VALID BY SUPREME COURT

"Purpose Is Public and City Has Due Authority," Says Opinion Written by Judge Blair.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23.—Validity of the $3,000,000 item for a municipal auditorium of the $87,372,500 bond issue voted by St. Louis last year was upheld by the Supreme Court of Missouri, en banc, today.

Attack on this item was based on the allegation that the proposed auditorium would serve no public purpose and that the city was not authorized by statute or charter to issue bonds for this object.

The opinion, which was written by Judge James T. Blair, all his colleagues but Judge Walker concurring, held: "The purpose of the auditorium is public and the city has due authority." A validity of the item was questioned in a suit filed in Circuit Court in the name of a taxpayer, against the city of St. Louis and its Mayor, Comptroller and treasurer, after some bond issues had expressed a desire to know whether the item was legal.

The opinion pointed out the people's privilege to institute legislation and veto legislative acts, for public discussion of which there is need for a meeting place, so that the "electorate can aid itself or be aided in arriving at conclusions it has been its duty to form in furtherance of the public good under an adopted policy."

The court in banc also upheld the Kansas City bond issue of $1,000,000 for a new waterworks, in deciding a test suit.

New Bank for Warren County. Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23.—The Finance Department has issued a charter for a new bank at Pendleton, Warren County, to be known as the Bank of Pendleton. The authorized capital is $10,000, half of which has been paid.

"Bewares and Don'ts" for Prospective Investors

Some Observations of Director of "Blue Sky" Division of the State Finance Department.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23.—A set of "stop, consider, and beware" rules for the prospective investor based by allurement of high pressure salesmen of "fly-by-night" promotions, where fables of fabulous returns later are interpreted in terms of disillusionment, has been compiled by Bernard T. Hurwitz, deputy finance commissioner in charge of the "blue sky" division of the State Finance Department.

The observations are timely, coming in the wake of a "field day" for the "blue sky" division last Tuesday in which it turned thumbs down on five promotions seeking approval to launch stock flotations in Missouri. Four of these companies proposed to sell stock in St. Louis.

List of the "Don'ts." "These don'ts" for prospective investors include a series recently prepared by the Chicago Association of Commerce, supplemented by others from the experience of Hurwitz in passing upon applications of the companies, substantial and otherwise, which would sell their stocks to Missourians. The "don'ts" follow:

1. If considering a prospectus, strike out all the language except that which tells just what money and property the company possesses, where the property is located, and what work the company has done.

2. Consider then your bank account, your debts and if you have a family, consider its need. Then make your decision upon the basis of whether you can afford to lose the money if the investment fails.

3. Never deal with a firm with no advertisement.

The First "Blue Sky" Law.

Hurwitz recalled that the first "blue sky" law in the United States was passed in Kansas in 1911. It derived the name "blue sky" from a speech made by the Senator who introduced the bill in the Legislature, which he declared that if the bill passed, the sky would be as clear as a blue sky.

Schemes of Promoters.

In warning prospective investors to thoroughly investigate a new promotion, Hurwitz argued that their inquiry not be halted merely because they may be shown lists of stockholders or directors bearing the names of well-known local business men. He declared that it was a practice of promoters of questionable projects to offer shares of stock for nothing, or at a reduced price to men of standing and reputation in a community merely to acquire the use of their names in selling stock to others.

These men thereby becoming the unwitting tools by which their friends may be deprived of hard-earned savings.

PLANS ALL-AMERICAN BIBLE

New York Pastor Says Wilson Is the Modern "Prince of Peace."

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—An all-American Bible is proposed by the Rev. Charles Francis Potter, pastor of the West Side Unitarian Church. He said today that his modernist Bible class would hear the details at its first meeting next Sunday.

Potter cites Abraham Lincoln as having fully as great a spiritual appeal as Jesus of Nazareth to the average American. Jane Addams in the new American Bible would replace Deborah as a leader against social wrongs; the writings of Washington, Adams and Jefferson, he declares, could be preserved as the American Pentateuch; Woodrow Wilson, he says, is the modern "Prince of Peace" and sacrificed his life in an attempt to induce this country to enter the League of Nations.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—That there is no great medium of education in our daily life than the newspaper, and that of all media offered for bank advertising, the columns of the newspapers reach the innermost circles of our present day civilization in the most widespread manner, were among the statements made by Motley H. Flint, executive vice president of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank, in the opening address here at the first of a series of bank-ers' regional conferences.

PHARAOH'S TOMB TO BE OPEN TO VISITORS

Inspection by Approved Persons Will Be Permitted by Government for Ten Days.

By the Associated Press. LUXOR, Egypt, Feb. 23.—The tomb of Tutankhamen will be re-opened next Saturday for a period of 10 days to permit its inspection by visitors sanctioned by the Egyptian Government. The Premier and other members of the Cabinet and the diplomatic corps will come from Cairo on a special train Friday night to be present at the ceremony.

For the last few days M. Lécrau, Director-General of the Antiquities Department, has been making an inventory of the contents of the tomb and the laboratory as left by Howard Carter when he ceased work and closed the tomb on Feb. 14. After lowering the lid of the sarcophagus to insure the safety of the gold mummy case, M. Lécrau sealed the doors of the two rooms containing the treasures still untouched. Inspector of Antiquities Engelbach for the Luxor district has been busy erecting wooden railings around the sarcophagus and the portions of the shrines that still remain in the tomb to protect them from possible injury by the hundreds of visitors who are expected during the 10-day period.

Carter is still in Cairo in connection with his court action to define his rights under the former concession to Lady Carnarvon, which the Government annulled before taking possession of the tomb. It is understood that Lady Carnarvon has not yet replied to the Government's offer of advising her that a new concession would be made allowing her scientific rights in the discovery, but reserving to the Government the control of news regarding the progress of the work and also of visits to the tomb.

Prof. Percy Newberry and Charles Breasted, archaeologists and members of Carter's staff, have left Luxor for Cairo to confer with General Allenby in an effort to adjust the differences between Carter and the Egyptian Government.

SENATE LIQUOR INQUIRY URGED BY EDWARDS

New Jersey Senator's Demand Based on Shooting of Senator Greene of Vermont

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Declaring the accidental shooting of Senator Greene of Vermont, during a chase of suspected bootleggers by a dry law enforcement squad was typical of the methods pursued by the national prohibition department, Senator Edwards, Democrat, New Jersey, urged in the Senate today that a thorough investigation be made of the Federal enforcement agencies.

Such an inquiry, he said, also should determine whether there was foundation for charges of gross inefficiency made against the prohibition bureau by "notoriously prominent friends" of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Senator Edwards spoke in support of his resolution empowering the Senate Judiciary Committee to conduct an investigation, and asserted that "the deplorable tragedy which prompts the resolution, places the inquiry far from personalities and partisanship."

Waited for Action by Drys. "I have been waiting patiently," the New Jersey Senator said, "for someone who advocates straight-out prohibition to take official cognizance of their latest evidence of contempt for the public in the alleged effort to enforce a law that is not enforceable. I do not understand the studied silence on the part of those in authority. To me it is a sinister aspect of the law to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment so much more sacred than laws to enforce other amendments that those charged with its enforcement may, without regard to the public, engage in pistol duels with lawbreakers, alleged or real, in a place where hundreds of people pass to and fro at all hours? Is the Eighteenth Amendment so much more sacred than the Fourth and Fifth Amendments to enforce it?"

Those who place the prohibition amendment above all others in importance "are riding to a fall," Senator Edwards declared.

Gov. Pinchot Quoted. Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania and William Dudley Foulke, of the Civil Service Reform League, were quoted by the New Jersey Senator, as friends of prohibition who have publicly criticized the present status of enforcement. The Pennsylvania Governor has asserted, Senator Edwards said, that "the Eighteenth Amendment has been betrayed in the house of its friends," while Foulke, he added, has declared the enforcement service has been made a "byword of corruption."

It is a matter of record, Senator Edwards continued, that despite constant increases in the number of employees both at headquarters and in the field, "there has been an amazing increase in the number of criminal and civil prosecutions in district courts" for violation of the liquor laws.

TAXES DOUBLED IN 12 YEARS, NO IMPROVEMENT ON BUILDING
Case of Downtown Piece of Property Cited as Example of Faulty Assessment Methods.

The doubling of taxes, within 12 years, on a St. Louis business building which has not been improved within that time, is cited by the Bureau of Municipal Research as an instance of faulty assessment methods. In comparison, it cites the system used in Cleveland as a desirable one. The comparison is made in the current issue of the bureau's publication, "Mind Your Business."

The building is located east of Broadway, the bureau says, and is in the same condition that it was in 1910, no improvements of consequence having been made on it. It is more than 25 years old, yet its 1922 taxes were $24,442.50, or more than twice the taxes in 1910, which were $12,014.42.

A table shows the assessed valuations and the taxes on the building from 1910 to 1922, inclusive, and shows that most of the tax increase has been due to increased assessments. In 1910 the assessment was "jumped" from $442,400 to $682,000, and in 1922 it was $1,033,460, and in 1922, $977,700.

The Cleveland assessment ordinance, the bureau declares, has "reduced assessment difficulties to a minimum." Details of the Cleveland plan were not given.

Wife Says She Took Her in Because Young Woman "Was Under a Cloud."

Special to the Post-Dispatch. MANSFIELD, O., Feb. 23.—Mrs. Helen Johnson, wife of the Rev. Frederick T. Johnson, former pastor of a Congregational mission here, who is now under arrest on a Mann act charge in Jamestown, N. Y., left her yesterday for Waverly, N. Y., to make her home with her husband's parents.

"My husband resigned as pastor of the Pugin Church and we decided to live apart because his temper did not add to the tranquility of our household," said Mrs. Johnson. "He may come back to me if he comes as the prodigal son came."

SEWER 'HELD UP BY GRACE OF GOD' TO BE REPAIRED SOON

Ordinance Providing for Work Approved by Board of Public Service

Reconstruction of one of the worn-out public sewers, reference to which as being "held up by the grace of God," was one of the main speaking points in the campaign which resulted in the passage of the $87,000,000 bond issue a year ago, will begin as soon as weather conditions permit.

An ordinance providing for the work was approved today by the Board of Public Service and sent to the Citizens' Bond Issue Supervisory Committee for ratification after which it will go to the Board of Aldermen for adoption.

The first sewer to be improved will be the one known as the "Southern Sewer," running from Chippewa street and Jefferson avenue to the river at Gasconade street. This sewer, which is built of timber cribbing, has had several cave-ins, and the stone masonry is cracking in many places.

Cost of rebuilding the sewer with concrete or vitrified brick has been estimated by the engineering force of the Department of Streets and Sewers at $50,904. An additional $20,000 will be provided by the ordinance, so that the city can purchase and maintain equipment with which this work and work on other broken-down sewers is to be carried on. The bond issue set aside $8,000,000 for construction and reconstruction of public sewers.

BUSSES TO QUIT USING WATERMAN AV.

Many Residents Have Complained Riding Top Deck Was Made Sightseeing Trip.

Sightseeing along Waterman avenue, from Union boulevard west to Skinker road by second-deck passengers on buses of the People's Motor Bus Co., which was reported to be as delightful to the rubbernecks as it was irksome to those rubbered at, is to come to an abrupt end. The company plans to stop running buses along Waterman avenue.

Complaints have been many that for 10 cents the motor buses on the Washington University line took people too near the secondstory windows of Waterman avenue homes and apartments. Women glanced out upstairs windows and saw passengers almost face to face.
Directors of Streets and Sewers Fisk, to whom most of the complaints went for relief, was told that privacy was being invaded.
This, with the spring or second-deck season just opening up. The buses made noise as the chauffeurs shifted gears, they caused a jangling of bells. Their weight was ruining the pavement. And they were making eavesdroppers of some respectable citizens, tempting them to peek, destroying the privacy of family life.

At first the bus company was adamant. If the people didn't want to be looked at they could pull down the blinds. But today Director Fisk was notified that the Washington University bus line would be shortened so as to make it end at Union and Lindell boulevards, the buses turning there for the eastern trip instead of going on west on Waterman avenue as they have been doing.

By shortening this line the company will be able to transfer six buses to its proposed North Grand boulevard line from Washington boulevard to the Water Tower.

Director Fisk understands that the Waterman avenue sightseeing tour will be discontinued Sunday.

SMOKES IN STREET CAR, HELD FOR HAVING LIQUOR

Man Taken in Custody by Policeman, Called by Conductor

After Two Warnings.
There were clouds of smoke in a southbound Broadway car this morning, but the stove, for once had nothing to do with it. The conductor, Emil Den, 2715 Marine avenue, investigated and found one of his passengers was burning an over-sized cigar.
The conductor twice ordered the man to stop. The passenger's reply was, "Don't bother me."
At Rutgers street, a policeman was summoned and the passenger was taken from the car to the Soulard Street Station, where a search disclosed a bottle of moonshine in a coat pocket. The prisoner identified himself as Felix Kraus, 43, of 1435A South Second street. A warrant charging possession of liquor will be sought, as it is more serious to violate the State bone-dry law than the city no-smoking-in-street-cars ordinance.

ACTS AGAINST MOVING FIRM Prosecutor Has Been Investigating Compliance With Law.

Following an investigation of local moving and storage companies, to determine if they are licensed

Schweitzer today issued an information against Celeste Starr, head of the Fireproof Storage and has neither posted a $25,000 bond nor obtained a license.

The information names A. V.
Kehr, 4162 De Tonty street, as the complaining witness. He stored furniture with the defendant from Aug. 20 last to Oct. 30. A fine of $500 a day is provided for viola-

NEW PARIS DECREE

Models Flabbergasting in Extreme Slenderness for Spring and Summer.

By C. F. BERTELLI,
Staff Correspondent of N. Y. American Copyright, 1934, by the Star Co.
PARIS, Jan. 27.—The hipless girl is back again. The first big dressmaker's opening of the season was held by Gerogette's last night.
It demonstrated, as a disgusted plump American society woman exclaimed:
"Any woman who is not built like a stat will not be fashionable this year."

how would you like a new figure this spring?

A NEW figure—a slender, graceful, appealing figure! A figure that can carry the new modes and colors! A figure that attracts! You can have it!
—without tedious dieting or violent exercises, without strength-sapping bathors or health-breaking patent foods, you can mold your own figure as a sculptor molds a statue, to just the proportions you desire.

How You Can Do It Sounds almost too good to be true, doesn't it? Yet it is very easy. Localized-evaporation is the key to the problem, and this is the way it works:
"Fat" so-called, consists largely of water. If this water is evaporated, the fatty tissues break down and the waste matter is carried away by the natural circulation of the blood stream. The fat simply disappears! The whole process is normal and natural. It is called "evaporation." When isolated to certain parts of the body, it is called localized-evaporation.

The principle of localized-evaporation is the principle of Melto. A fragrant rose-tinted cream, Melto contains certain ingredients which accelerate the natural fat-reducing process in the body. There is not the tiniest element of danger in it. Applied like ordinary cold-cream on any part of the body, it actually "melts" the fat away! And because you can apply it to any part of the body you desire, you can reduce just where you want to reduce, no place else!

most amazingly effective. The first woman (the inventor of the process) who tried Melto took off fifty-five pounds in ten months. A New York business man* took off twenty-three pounds in four months. A nationally famous bathing beauty* says—"I have used it (Melto) during the months I have been unable to get my accustomed outdoor exercise and found that it has kept my
Another woman* writes—"I have used it on my ankles, bust and hips. Each one in turn has become smaller." Still another: "I have not only reduced my weight thirty pounds, but in a very short time I reduced the dimensions of my upper arm over an inch."
And so it goes. Sounds like magic—but there is nothing magical about it.
Melto, as hundreds of women have discovered, is simply what it claims to be—the scientifically correct way to attain a slim, lovely figure.

Just beneath your skin is the complexion you envy today in others

HOWEVER marred your skin may be with blackheads or blemishes, you may not be more than one short week away from a really radiant complexion.

Stardling as this statement may seem,
it is nevertheless true; and with thousands of women today the facts are being passed along from one to another.

It comes down to a simple truth about the skin which physicians will tell you is at the root of every skin blemish and fault.

The skin needs, not makeshifts, but something to release again its own normal health

Deep down in the under layers of your skin, far below the surface, there is going on day and night an important activity of which you are hardly conscious.

Tiny glands continually functioning, pores throwing off poisons, capillaries rushing fresh blood in and carrying off infection—here is a delicate balance of forces like the balance wheel of a fine watch. With healthy vigor and activity, comes a clear, clean complexion. Too much or too little stimulation, and there starts that long succession of blemishes and faults that women are constantly seeking to avoid.

A method of daily care, based simply on the idea of keeping the skin functioning normally

To cleanse the pores of dust and germs, to gently restore the pulsing of the capillaries in the lower layers of the skin, to carry off infection, and then to stop new infection before it starts—thousands have learned to use Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment in the daily care of their skin.

If your complexion is not all you want it to be, begin today to use Resinol. Work gently into the pores a thick lather of Resinol Soap; then rinse off, and splash on a dash of cold water.
Then, with special irritations, roughnesses, blemishes or rashes, apply a touch of Resinol Ointment. If possible, leave it on overnight. In the morning wash off again with Resinol Soap.

Within a week you will begin to notice the difference in your skin—a finer, softer texture—a ruddier glow, a clearing of the ugly little blemishes.

Distressed Stomachs
It's Acid That Makes the Trouble.
Eaton's Tablets Will Settle It.

Sourness, food repeating, belching, indigestion, bloating, heartburn and gas on stomach will quickly vanish if you take one or two Eaton's tablets after meals.

The trouble with most distressed stomachs is excess acid which stops the natural processes of digestion. Then, of course, the stomach rebels and the whole body suffers.

Eaton's absorbs this surplus acid, carries it out of the system and then the stomach settles down to its normal business once more and you feel well, strong, active.

"Have been awful sick with gas," writes Mrs. W. H. Person. "Eaton's is all that helped me." "Eaton's relieved me of sour stomach," says

Mrs. G. P. Hicks: "Eaton's banished my stomach pains," writes A. Perci-feld; "Now, well after 20 years' stomach trouble," writes C. W. Burton.

Eaton's tablets are pleasant tasting and handy to use. Carry a few in your pocket, take them after meals and see how much better you feel. Big box costs only 50c. Ask your druggist. If he can't supply you send direct to Eaton's Remedy Co., 325 W. Madison St., Dept. 4, Chicago.

EATONICGETS THREE MONTHS
IN AUTO FATALITY CASENegro, Whose Truck Killed Woman and Child, Also Fined $100.

James Walker, a negro, charged with manslaughter for killing a woman and her small son with his automobile truck last summer, today was fined $100 and sentenced to three months in jail by a jury in Circuit Judge Falkenhainer's court.

The jury began its deliberations at 5 p. m. yesterday and quickly agreed on his guilt, but two jurors held out for a long time for a penitentiary sentence of two years or more, and the verdict was not returned till 9:40 a. m. today, after a compromise was reached.

Walker, who is 36 years old and lives at 5537 Riverview drive, on June 27 last was driving south in Newstead avenue when, at Enright avenue, his car struck Mrs. Catherine Martin of 4388 Enright avenue and her son, William, 5. Mother and son were fatally injured.

Charles S. Frank of 3317 Delmar boulevard, who was at that corner, testified he saw the Martins crossing Newstead, but heard no horns of an approaching machine, and the truck went forward 50 feet after the accident before stopping. A policeman testified there were marks on the street showing that the truck had begun skidding in the middle of Enright. A woman testified that the machine, in stopping, hit an iron hitching post and broke it.

Walker, testifying, declared that he had stopped, out of caution, before crossing the Hindmanton car tracks, about 120 feet north of Enright, and was driving at "ordinary" speed as he approached the latter street. He saw the Martins, he said, and they appeared aware of his truck, but the boy jerked away from his mother and started to run, pursued by her. The right fender hit the boy and the left fender hit Mrs. Martin, Walker said. The defendant declared he stopped as quickly as he could and offered assistance.

Walker's attorney, addressing the jury, said that his client was a high school graduate and an interior decorator, and had more than ordinary intelligence.

The trial was on the charge of manslaughter in the case of the boy and a similar charge in the case of Mrs. Martin. In pending in the same court. However, rulings of the judge indicated that he regarded both cases as one offense and it is believed the defendant would seek to prevent trial of the second case if the State brings it up. In a recent case in another court, growing out of two deaths in one automobile accident, it was held that conviction as to one death covered the other one.

GIRL'S PSYCHIC POWERS ARE TESTED BY NEW YORK POLICEShe Describes Secret Records and Suggests Clues in Crime Mysteries.By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Facing a group of high police officials and detectives, Eugene Dennis, 18-year-old school girl of Atchafalaya, Kan., for two hours at police headquarters yesterday, demonstrated that she could, through her psychic powers, describe secret police records and suggest clues in unsolved crime mysteries.

Officials said her recitals were remarkably accurate and her mistakes were comparatively insignificant. Deputy Commissioner Faurot took from the record room the papers in a loft robbery case and asked Miss Dennis to describe them. She described the scene of the crime, the arrival of the police, a long wait, a fight, and the capture.

Faurot asked whether Miss Dennis could describe the circumstances of the shooting some time ago of two policemen. She did so and then asserted that one of the two murderers, as yet unfound, was named Murphy. The right side of his mouth turned up and his left shoulder sagged, she added. If the police could find a blonde automobile mechanic who lived at No. 102 of a street in New York, she said they would be able to solve the mystery.

SPAIN'S DICTATOR CONSULTS
SOME OF LEADERS HE OUSTEDReported as Willing to Turn Over Power Entirely to the Conservatives.Copyright, 1934, by the Press and Publishing Company, Inc., New York World and the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, Feb. 28.—The Spanish dictator, Primo de Rivera, has entered into negotiations with some of the former parliamentary leaders he ousted, including Senor Maura, Conservative leader, the correspondent is informed through a diplomatic source here.

The information is that De Rivera not only seeks their co-operation in the Government, but would be willing to turn over the power entirely to them, thus restoring the parliamentary regime. The Conservatives have replied they will return to office on two conditions: that military and civilian responsibility for the disaster in Morocco three years ago be determined and that the Morocco issue be settled.

WEEKS IN FAVOR OF RIVER CORPORATION

Secretary Tells of Need of Equipment for Mississippi River Barge Line.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
26-23 Wyatt Bldg.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Secretary of War Weeks, in support of the Denison bill for creation of a $5,000,000 Government-owned corporation for management of barge-line equipment on the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio rivers, today told the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee that the most pressing need for river transportation is money for purchase of new equipment and erection of new terminals.

He explained that the present equipment is wearing out and that the War Department has no money with which to buy the new and additional equipment necessary to carry out the river improvement plan to a logical conclusion.

Weeks declared that the river transportation service began under Government control in 1920 as a war measure.

Some Lines Profitable.
"There was insufficient equipment at that time," he said, "and the prospects were not encouraging. On the lower Mississippi, however, the lines have been profitable when there were no unforeseen and unavoidable mishaps, such as last year, when the river was lower than we have ever known it, causing a deficit to us of almost half a million dollars."

"The Mississippi and Ohio Rivers represent the best possible prospects in this country for river transportation, but there is great need for sufficient equipment to insure continuous operation. All our equipment is used to full capacity now, including the 'Goltz' barges, and should we lose these by court action, the service will be greatly hampered."

Weeks said he still believed the service should be transferred eventually to the Commerce Department or the Shipping Board, but that he agreed with the sponsors of the Denison bill that the present service should be given a fair trial for five years longer. He declared that he was unwilling to assent to extension of the service, which might mean a continuing loss for an indefinite period.

For Retaining Ashburn.
Col. T. K. Ashburn, chief of the river service, should continue in that office, the Secretary said, and he added that he was strongly in favor of the Denison provision that the military officer in charge of the work should have the rank and pay of a Brigadier-General and be relieved of all calls to troops. Unless some steps are taken, Weeks said, Col. Ashburn must be withdrawn from the warways service June 30, this year.

HAWES FOR REDUCTION IN FEDERAL AUTOMOBILE TAX

Tells House 15,000,000 Persons Are Affected by Levy, and 6,500,000 by Income Rates.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Representative Harry B. Hawes, Democrat of St. Louis, told the House today that he would vote to reduce war taxes on automobile transportation to the lowest possible level. In support of his argument he cited the seven taxes a St. Louis automobile owner must pay to the city, State and Federal Government.

The present Federal tax of 5 per cent on new cars, parts and accessories, Hawes said, was levied in 1918 as a war measure and should be reduced. He said reduction of automobile taxes would give more general relief to the country than reduction of income taxes.

"In Missouri," Hawes said "475,000 men and women pay an automobile tax and in the same State only 172,519 citizens pay an income tax."

Hawes stated that there were 15,000,000 automobiles in the United States and that most of these belong to small owners. He added: "Of these 15,000,000 motor vehicles, 4,500,000 are used by farmers."

Sisler's Triple Brings Joy to Camp of Browns

Severed, Vangilder, Collins and Other Players Convinced George Will Play.

HITS GOOD PITCHING

Cutting, Rookie Hurler, Puts "Stuff" on the Ball Against Manager.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 28.—Oleyn Voight, a tall right-hander who last year pitched excellent ball for the Denver team of the Western League, yesterday stepped on the rubber at Monroe Park and started every player by buzzing the leather over in excellent form. It was apparent right from the start that Voight had been getting into shape before starting to Mobile. Pat Collins was catching and the chubby receiver yelled so that every one could hear. "Say, fellows, this boy is ready!"

The above was written just as a mere introduction to what happened later. Manager Sisler informed his men after every one had had time to thoroughly warm up in bunting practice that a game of "rounders" would be played. Then the fun started, with every one being extremely anxious to watch Sisler at bat.

When the manager of the Browns stepped up to the plate Voight shot over a wide one which George allowed to pass. The next one apparently was just to his liking, for he swung and a sizzling single went shooting to center straight over the bag at second base.

On his next turn at bat George caught a pitched offering squarely and the ball set sail for deep right for a double. Just a few minutes later Sisler landed squarely on an other ball and the leather went to deep center on a line. Two outfielders chased this drive, but Sisler was returned to the infield. Sisler was perched on third base.

There were other blows of the true ringing variety that brought back memories of the hard hitting George Sisler of 1922.

All Sure He Will Play. There is no one in camp among the veterans who does not feel sure that George Sisler will this season play first base for the Browns. All are absolutely sure. But George himself and he will not make a positive statement.

Hank Severed says Sisler looks just the same as ever to him. "Dicke" Davis says George looks great and the boys from North Carolina are absolutely sure that Sisler will be stationed at first base when the season opens.

Vangilder, the speed demon from Cape Girardeau says that "he can't see nothing wrong with George" and he seemed rather puzzled to think that such a question was asked.

Pat Collins thinks Sisler looks just as good as ever, saying that George stands up at the plate in the same old manner as he did in the past.

Homor Essel says that if he could play ball as well as his manager he would consider himself to be the greatest ball player in the world.

That really expresses the sentiment of the players now here concerning Sisler. George may want to test himself out before giving out any definite statement which perhaps is perfectly right, but after watching him play ball, hit the ball as he did when he last played in 1922, it is indeed a difficult and most puzzling problem to figure how any player is going to beat him of the job at first base for the Browns.

Rego a Hurler. Tony Rego, donned the mask and pad and was behind the bat for the greater part of the practice. The little fellow made a very favorable impression behind the bat. He is hustling all the time.

Hilliard Tyrell, the big fellow who was brought to this camp from the Coast by Sisler, also worked behind the bat and he, too, looked very good. Fact of the matter is, he has Tyrell's reputation to believe that he needs but little coaching to prepare him for a job as a regular.

John Wilson, the semipro pitcher from Kansas City, is a big fellow who makes a strong impression with every player in camp. He has ease and grace of motion and knows how to pitch ball.

Pitcher Dave Danforth reported to the training camp today, making a total of 24 men working out. Pitcher Urban Shook was expected to report before the end of the week. Warmer weather greeted the baseball athletes in their third workout.

Cincy Holdout Who For $57,000 Signed to Play Three Years

EDDIE ROUSH.

Roush has been a holdout every year for the past three seasons. Last year he did not capitulate until after the big league championship campaign began. He is now reported to be tied up for three seasons.

Thorpe Eager to Coach Varsity Team, Faculty Won't Let Him

Instead, "Chief Bright Path," Greatest Athlete of All Time, Plans to Assemble Greatest Team of Professionals That Ever Played on One Aggregation.

By Dent McKimming.

Chief Bright Path of the Sac and Fox tribe of American Indians, is on the warpath. That is to say, Jim Thorpe, considered by many to be the greatest all-around athlete of all time, announces that he is out to organize and direct an all-star professional football team that can figuratively massacre all rivals.

Thorpe, who was in St. Louis yesterday en route from his home in Oklahoma to New York, said that he would not assemble his famous team of all-Indian players next season, but would bend every effort to build up the greatest collection of stars that has ever played together on one team, drawn from "pro" eleven and from the ranks of graduated college players.

"Yes, we drew good crowds last season," said Thorpe. "But we lost too many games and we were under heavy expense. I believe that if we must lose money on the proposition we may as well lose while winning. I want to win the big league championship this year. If it does mean a loss of some money."

"Why is it that you do not turn your attention to coaching, rather than to playing?" Thorpe was asked.

"I still have the desire to play the game myself. The eagerness to make a tackle has never left me. I get just as much kick out of making a hard, fast tackle as ever. And it's still real fun, even though I am getting old."

"However, I suppose I would like to coach a college team if I could make some arrangement with a 'pro' team once in a while."

"I understand, though, that the university authorities are making an effort to stifle professional football. I understand there is something of an agreement not to."

WRAY'S COLUMN

Call for Mr. Rickard! WHILE the astute Tex Rickard is combing the wilds of Chile, Patagonia and other remote regions seeking victims for the annual sacrifice to Jack Dempsey, we respectfully call attention to the fact that he might profitably consider China.

We hope he takes the cue. Because away over there in Shanghai, where a colony of English and Americans still get a kick out of life and green bottles, there is about 6 feet 4 1/2 inches of discouragement for men who wield their fists for a livelihood.

The altitude appertains to one Knute Hansen, a 19-year-old protégé of Marty K. Smith, late of the Australian air service and some time boxer from Wisconsin.

Three months of 'pro' football often provides a young graduate with the very funds he needs to open up his law office or to pay the debts incurred during his long college course. There is nothing vicious in that, is there?

Thorpe, who established an unsurpassed record in the decathlon in the Olympic games at Stockholm in 1912, was asked what he thought of the threat of Scandinavian countries to his career.

"Drawing conclusions from what I saw of the Swedes and Finns, I believe they cannot take our track and field laurels from us because they do not specialize as we do in America. They seem to have a different aim. They try to turn out perfect all-around athletes and as a result our specialists defeated them in individual events."

"Take my case. I did not excel in any particular event and still I always felt that had I stopped developing myself for the decathlon and specialized in some one event, I would perhaps have set a record."

"We have more athletes of the very top rank over the country to-day than we ever had before, I believe."

Thorpe is on his way East to take a place on a team in a "Twilight" baseball league near Boston. He kept the visitors from pulling up in Oklahoma, where he did much hunting and fishing.

Bunker Stars as Aggies Defeat Washington Five

Littlest Man on Either Quint Scores 16 Points, Helps Kansans Win 33 to 30.

A failure to score on free throws and careless passing in the third caused the Washington Pikers to lose a close basketball game to the Kansas Aggies by a 33-30 score at the Coliseum last night. Last night's reversal came as a surprise to Washington followers. In view of the fact that the Pikers defeated the Aggies at Manhattan last week.

Each team scored 15 field goals and committed 15 fouls, but the Aggies made good on nine penalty throws, while the Pikers could score on but six, and the difference spelled defeat for the locals.

The scoring power of the Aggie combination was lodged in Bunker, the visitors' right forward, who was the littlest man on the floor. His speedy floorwork and his extremely accurate shooting enabled him to register five baskets and six free tosses, for a total of 16 points. His playing at all times was above the average.

Several players on the Washington team did good individual work, but the outfit failed to function smoothly as a machine. Cox and Well, the guards, played first-class basketball throughout, and Capt. Minner did some excellent work the short while he was able to play, but at no time were all five players on the team playing in complete harmony.

The Pikers, starting without Minner, who had been injured, began liberally and the Aggies immediately jumped into the lead at 4-6. They were never overtaken. The guarding of both teams was close, but the Aggies had the better of the duel. Almost all the Piker shots were from long range. The Aggies were getting four shots at the basket to the Pikers' one, and only consistent had luck on close shots kept the visitors from pulling up to a greater advantage. As it was, the end of the first period found the Aggies leading with a score of 12 to 3.

Several excellent chances to score were wasted by wild passes. Then the Pikers took excessive time out, for which they were penalized by the referee. Bunker made good on the throw and the game ended.

Tomorrow night the Pikers play their final game of the season against the University of Kansas team at the Coliseum. Kansas is now leading the Conference and if the Pikers win from the Pikers they will clinch their third straight Valley title. McKinley and Cleveland High School boys will start a preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

"Pro" Soccer Stars to Play Picked Municipal Team for Olympic Fund

PRESIDENT BARKER of the St. Louis Soccer League announced today that his organization had designated Sunday, March 30, as the day on which the All-star Professional soccer eleven will meet an all-star amateur team for the benefit of the Olympic fund.

It is possible that the postponement of our games will necessitate a change in this date but the St. Louis Soccer League and the Municipal Soccer League will prepare to put their picked teams on the field that day.

PAINTING OF TRAMP SHOWS ART'S APPEAL

Jefferson City Artist Depicts Him Gazing at Brangwyn Picture in Capitol.

To those representatives of "imperial Missouri" who once said it was foolish for the State to pay Frank Brangwyn $68,250 for a group of mural paintings which now adorn the interior dome of the State Capitol, Lester Parker, an artist of Jefferson City, has made colorful answer.

"He has painted a picture showing a tramp—and some tramps are said to possess even less artistic appreciation than some members of the Legislature—lost in admiration of Brangwyn's work. The painting is entitled 'Symmetry's Appeal.'"

Parker vows that his is a study from life. A tramp did enter the corridors of the big white building on the hill and shuffle across marble floors until he reached the rotunda. The artist, who chanced to be there that day in search of human interest sketches, saw the shabby adventurer slump to a high-backed mahogany bench. His artistic sense alive to the contrast between the mahogany bench and the tramp, Parker waited.

Planned a Different Picture. Nothing happened. The tramp looked a bit uncomfortable, feeling not the mahogany of the bench but feeling the high, straight back. He was oblivious of the beauty about him, Parker says. Instead of looking up to art and marble, the tramp looked down to aching feet. Here was a chance for a bit of symbolic sketch, and Parker seized it.

He paid the dusty visitor to pose for a sketch. This sketch shows the tramp in the foreground and a church steeple and factory chimneys in the background. The inference is obvious—Parker meant to illustrate by it that the tramp in question had neglected church and work.

However—the next day the same tramp came again to the Capitol rotunda, as did Parker.

This time the sun chanced to break through the clouds above the Missouri River and streamed through the colored windows high up in the Capitol dome. The tramp looked upward as Parker watched.

Struck Dumb by Something. Suddenly he took off his hat. Hastily the artist gripped pencil and sketch pad.

"Symmetry's Appeal" took form. There was the tramp in the foreground. Marble walls and brass railings and lighted Grecian bronze tripod lamps about him. Above, but only suggested, were the Brangwyn paintings, four great pendentives around the capitol dome, with the sunbeams turning shadow into color and color into new shadows.

The tramp's bearded features were transfigured—at least they are in Parker's picture. He appeared struck dumb by something. Whether it was because art had come to Missouri to attract even tramps, or whether pure beauty held him thus, each one who sees "Symmetry's Appeal" must guess. Parker plans to send his painting to the noted English artist who furnished its inspiration. He thinks it will demonstrate more strikingly than printed word the value of the Brangwyn masterpieces. The Capitol Decorations Committee has complimented Parker on the work.

ITALIAN MEDIUM SAID TO EMIT BLUE LIGHT RAYS

French Scientists Say He Appears to Be Surrounded by Halo
When in Darkened Room.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Interesting tests of a medium claimed to possess a mysterious luminosity—the emission of blue light rays with radiographic properties—are announced by Dr. Gustave Geley of the Metaphysical Institute here. The medium is an Italian named Ertio of Castellammare di Stabia, brought to Paris for more searching examination.

Dr. Geley claims that he subjected Ertio to the most rigorous tests.

The examiners declare that Ertio when placed in a darkened room, appeared to be surrounded by a kind of halo, while every now and then a clearly defined fan-shaped ray of light was projected from the left side. Occasionally, also, a cone of light appeared above the head.

SEPARATISTS NOW SWEEP OUT OFFICES WHERE THEY RULED

Only Ones Remaining in Speyer Are Prisoners—Others to Go to South America.

By the Associated Press.
SPEYER, Rhenish Palatinate, Feb. 23.—A large number of German separatists, who have been active here in Speyer, at Ais-la-Chapelle in the Northern Rhineland, and at other points where unsuccessful efforts have been made to supplant the regular Governments, are reported to be preparing to emigrate to South America.

The only separatists remaining in Speyer, where the independent Palatinate Government functioned for some time, are being held under guard, engaged in sweeping and cleaning the Government buildings which the yocoupled as officers and living quarters during their week's occupancy.

GIRL SAVED IN AIR

Four members of the Gates Flying Circus, appearing at Houston, Tex., risked their lives in a rescue which is believed to be the most thrilling in the annals of flying. Rosalee Gordon, 21-year-old chorus girl, was scheduled to make a parachute leap from a plane 5000 feet in the air. When the moment came for her to make the leap, she found her hundred and few odd pounds were not strong enough to break the shackles holding her to the landing gear of the plane. Freddy Lund, a commercial aviator, formerly with the circus, went up in another plane, crossed from this to the girl's plane in mid-air and, with the aid of two others, managed to get the girl back on the landing gear of her plane. Photo shows Rosalee Gordon with her parachute.

DESLOGE DOINGS.

DESLOGE, Mo., Feb. 24.—Friend L. C.: I have taken much interest in your "I would not care to live" stuff. You might add this to your collection:

In St. Louis town I would not be. The Lead Belt's good enough for me!

I'll do my "twenty hours" here. Although we don't have "four-per" beer.

I'd rather be stuck in the mud than be stuck up by "Gyp the Blood."

J. HENRY D.

Should you ever happen around Flat River, drop in.—J. H. D.

I THANK you very much, old top. And in reply I beg to say, Into Flat River I shall drop.

If ever I am down that way. But for Desloge I do not care. I'd live there only in a pinch; I'd rather live in Bonne Terre!

Where I would have a lead-pipe clinch.

TRY IT.

The man on the sandbox says if said chains won't stop the reckless driver a ball and chain might hold him for a while.

The Detroit baseball players have been forbidden to play golf during spring training. Ty doesn't believe in spilling a pretty fair ball player to make a bum golfer.

At the same time it is another wallop at life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness as laid down and prescribed by our forefathers.

QUITE SO.

Dear Sir: Do you know when we may expect Senator Walsh to throw his "wings" in the presidential ring? I hope the Republicans grind his ax sharp enough for him and that it will prove a boomerang.

MISS E. G.

We don't care anything about the political complexion of the ax as long as it hews to the line and lets the chips fall where they may.

The Golden Rule may be all right, but when it comes to measuring criminals, practical policemen are still stringing with the Bertillon system.

"Cardinals Sign Texas League Umpire." Looks like first division!

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

It cost the fight fans anywhere from $10 to $50 to find out that Tex Rickard's real name was G. L. Rickard. That's the way he signs fight tickets.

Tex says he made Firpo what he is today, and now he won't even answer his cablegrams. Page him on the radio, Tex.

However, Tex, if you're looking for gratitude, you'll find it in the dictionary.

"McGraw Joins National Boxing Organization." Who said John's fighting days were over?

As we get it, Cincinnati's highly touted pitching staff consists of three stars and four "ifs."

Some men are natural born leaders. Others are cheer leaders.

See where some of our best golfers are sacrificing distance for accuracy. Long shots seldom win.

See where Van and Schenk the noted vaudevillians, were arrested for liquor violation. They are now rehearsing the Volstead act.

THE WAYS OF A COLLEGE LAD.

A DELICATE-APPEARING youth placed two cents on a drugstore counter and asked the clerk for a stamp. The clerk tore one from his pocket.

"Would you mind licking it for me and placing it on here?" he asked. "My tongue is sore."

"Sure," said the clerk, as he started to paste the stamp on the letter.

"Oh, wait," cautioned the young man, "not that way. Kindly place the stamp with the top toward the outer edge of the envelope."

"Sure," said the obliging clerk, "but what is thunder's that for?"

"Why, you see," confided the youth, "I'm a student in the Acme Correspondence School and that's our college yell."

"Your house is afire!" yelled the stranger at the top of his voice.

DEFEAT FOR 12 OF 21 AMENDMENTS INDICATED; SOME OTHERS IN DANGER

Proposals Relating to Bonus, Ballot Box Opening, Antinepotism, Kansas City Bond Improvement and Schedule Apparently Successful.

NEGATIVE TREND IN LATE RETURNS

Dozen Measures Now Running Behind With Affirmative Lead of Others Being Reduced as Rural Figures Are Reported.

Continued negative trend of returns from all sections of rural Missouri indicates the probable defeat of 12 of the 21 proposed amendments to the State Constitution voted upon Tuesday and Wednesday a number of others. Amendments which apparently were adopted are No. 4, the bonus amendment; No. 9, which would open the ballot boxes in election cases; No. 13, the antinepotism provision; No. 19, the Kansas City improvement bond measure; and No. 21, the schedule of only technical importance.

While some of the others still have comfortable margins, returns which are pouring in from large counties in western part of the State are cutting them rapidly. A total of 2102 precincts out of 3333, had been reported.

Ten Running Behind.

Twelve amendments are running behind. They are: No. 2, to simplify indictment forms, 100,742 yes; 123,674 no. No. 3, to require revision of senatorial districts and increase pay of legislators, 114,018 yes; 129,040 no. No. 5, the public health amendment, 109,833 yes; 124,834 no. No. 6, to consolidate State departments and set up budget system, 111,715 yes; 121,344 no. No. 7, to modernize judiciary system, 103,614 yes; 125,061 no. No. 10, to permit political nominations by conventions, 98,193 yes; 122,672 no. No. 12, the taxation amendment, 116,931 yes; 121,014 no. No. 13, to permit classification of property for taxation, 92,940 yes; 125,186 no. No. 14, to abolish State Board of Equalization, 101,920 yes; 123,715 no. No. 15, the educational amendment, 72,877 yes; 120,413 no. No. 16, to relax requirements for corporations, 117,193 yes; 114,286 no. No. 17, to remove conscientious objection as ground for exemption from militia duty, 111,085 yes; 121,239 no.

Others Endangered.

Those whose early city-given leads appeared safe, only to evaporate when the voice of interior counties began to be heard, are:

No. 1, to simplify indictment forms, 127,381 yes; 110,913 no. No. 8, relating to impeachment, 129,210 yes; 106,321 no. No. 11, to give local self government and more power to expand territorially, to cities, 120,245 yes; 108,488 no. No. 20, changing regulations governing spending of Constitution, 122,760 yes; 107,425 no. The five whose leads continue to hold up are: No. 4, the bonus amendment, 132,356 yes; 88,013 no. No. 9, to permit opening of ballot boxes in election fraud investigations and prosecutions, 132,113 yes; 97,438 no. No. 18, the antinepotism amendment, 128,898 yes; 104,119 no. No. 19, the Kansas City improvement bond provision, 141,943 yes; 94,077 no. No. 21, the schedule, a technical provision, 121,842 yes; 109,122 no.
